Hiram Johnson Says
Senator Capper Says
Japan's Busy Builders
Turk-Italian Deal

Not all good Republicans see things in the same way.

Mr. Hughes, Republican Secretary of State, says this government will not recognize the government of Russia until it reforms, that means, presumably, until it imitates us and becomes a Republican plutocracy, tempered by elections every four years.

About the same time Senator Hiram Johnson, good California Republican, who had just finished a speech welcoming the Hearst bonus petition with more than a million names on the steps of the Capitol at Washington, said "millions of Russians and their children lack food. Millions of American mechanics and laborers lack employment. Millions of American farmers have been getting for their crops less than it cost to produce them. The Russians would buy machinery from us and food, and pay for it with their products. This would help our farmers, laborers and mechanics, and help Russia. I don't see why millions in Russia and millions in America should be penalized and kept from dealing with each other simpy because a few Russians led by Lenin and Trotzky decided to change their government."

Senator Johnson added: "Russia's fabulously fertile oil fields, greatest asset of that country, have been cornered by British interests. I quote the New York World and I gather that intelligent British interests, as usual, are at work while some others are asleep. It must interest American business men to know that they can deal with Russia only through British agents, the Russian and the American ends of each transaction paying a rake-off to the Englishmen."

In connection with the soldier bonus Senator Capper of Kansas, a good American and good newspaper man, gives these facts: "Big business men have notified Chairman Adams of the Republican National Committee that they will not contribute a cent to wipe out the committee's two million dollar deficit if Congress passes a bonus bill. Those are the business men to whom the United States Government has paid three billion dollars because their war contracts were canceled when the war ended."

A government able to find three thousand million dollars for disappointed contractors that stayed home and profiteered is too poor to pay a bonus to soldiers that went abroad and lost their jobs. Nice "democracy."

Mr. Black's Baltimore Sun publishes Hector Pywater's proofs that Japan is actively engaged in naval building, in spite of the Washington agreement. Washington authorities tell the Baltimore Sun that they "are not at all worried." They are content that Japan has turned "all her manpower and machinery" to building so called "merchant ships." Those ships, arranged for transporting flying dynamite-carrying machines across the ocean may worry our government, later.

If this country ever does get into war with Japan, some "Miss Nancy" gentleman at Washington will have a bad moment.

Mr. Denby, head of the navy, asks Congress for $9,000,000 to build an air fleet and a new important air base on the Pacific coast. Mr. Denby apparently is not asleep. It is to be hoped the government will give him the money. A few millions for preparation now might save many billions for water later.

Nice invention, that League of Nations. Lucky for the United States that a collection of sentimentalists failed to drag us into it. All Europe laughs at it now. While Genoa is deciding how Russia and Germany shall be disciplined, the two construct an alliance that gives the poor Allies the shivers. Now Italy is said to have made a secret agreement with the Turks, not even consulting poor Old John Bull and "London sees serious consequences."

Agreements between nations, now as before the war, mean as little as between pirates or burglars. They are broken when it suits either side. The best "alliance" or "league" for this country is the Atlantic on one side, the Pacific on the other, justice in our dealings with Mexico, friendship with our Canadian brothers on the North, and adequate preparation here at home.

General Wu, running a little war of his own in China, will remember John D. Rockefeller in his prayers with good reason. The battle was about to start, Wu had no machine guns. He took empty Standard Oil cans, filled them with fire crackers, and lit the fire crackers. The sound was sufficiently like machine gun fire to satisfy Wu's enemies. One thousand of Chang's soldiers surrendered and were made captives, not a scratch on anybody. Very humane war.

POWELL ACCUSED WIFE BEFORE HE KILLED HER

SHOT AT BUTLER, MAID SAYS

Violent Quarrel With Widow of R. H. White Preceded Murder and Suicide

Mrs. Lena Elizabeth Powell, widow of R. H. White, Boston merchant prince, was slain last evening by her second husband, William B. Powell, in their Chestnut Hill mansion, following an unfounded, maniacal accusation by him that she was on intimate terms with the family butler, Michael J. Maloney.

Powell returned home, summoned his wife and the butler into the living room, closed the door and a moment later servants heard shouted accusations, which grew into a violent quarrel.

It ended when Powell pulled out an automatic revolver, fired three shots at the butler and then shot down his wife.

She had been attracted, as had other servants, by the violence of the quarrel.

Maloney hid upstairs. A moment later Powell, after leaving his wife dead on the floor below, a bullet in her heart, procured another revolver in his bedroom and fired four shots into his breast. He fell dead.

Hubbard's Diary Names Pitlock

SUSPECTED WIFE, SAYS COOK

Tells of Finding Man's Clothes When He Broke Into Her Bedroom

Walter Spencer Cook, former Harvard instructor and fellow of the American Archeological Institute, on the stand at his wife's suit for divorce in the Cambridge Superior Court, told today of finding a man's garments with the initials "E. V. G." in his wife's bedroom when he broke into her home on fashionable Brattle street, Cambridge.

Mrs. Henrietta Buck Cook's first husband was Eric V. Greenfield, a professor at Purdue University. Mr. Cook accuses Mrs. Cook of undue intimacy with her first husband, whom she divorced some years ago.

He also told of having found silk shirts and handkerchiefs bearing similar initials in the same room. With them was a lady's combination of silk, such as his wife was accustomed to wear.

TELLS OF KISSNIG.

Suspicions were still further aroused, he declared on the stand, by the discovery that Mrs. Cook's wedding nightgown was missing from the drawer where she had been in the habit of keeping it.

Referring to other things that aroused his doubts regarding Mrs. Cook, he told of having seen her kissing Professor Greenfield during one of the latter's visits to the Brattle street house.

The witness also described events of the first Christmas of his married life. Mr. Greenfield was a guest, and, after dinner, he and Mrs. Cook and Professor Greenfield, who is an instructor at Purdue University, went to the sitting room and chatted for some time. Mr. Cook continued:

"At length my wife said to me; 'Walter, would you mind going to your study for a time? I have some business to talk over with Eric.'

"Of course I got up and went to my study, closing the sitting room door behind me. A few minutes later Mrs. Cook came to the study, went to a desk and took something out and left without saying a word.

KEY TURNED IN LOCK.

"Thinking the whole affair strange, I followed her and saw her go to the sitting room, heard her turn the key in the lock and went back to my study again. Mrs. Cook and Professor Greenfield must have been there alone in the locked room

FIGURES IN MURDER OF 'GERMICIDE KING'

Mrs. Hubbard, when the case comes to trial, will plead self-defence, claiming that her husband frequently threatened her life and once thrust the gun that finally took his life, into her face.

REVEALS SLAIN MAN'S RELATIONS WITH YOUNG VETERAN

A diary kept by William B. Hubbard, slain "Germicide King," was discovered in the breast pocket of his coat, when his body, crumpled by the bullet from his wife's revolver, was picked up on the stairway in their home on Congreve street, Roslindale, according to Medical Examiner Timothy Leary today.

Its contents may play a vital part in the coming trial of Mrs. Carrie N. Hubbard, the wife, who was formally charged with her husband's murder today, and committed to the Charles Street Jail without bail to await the action of the Grand Jury.

A number of the entries in the diary mentioned Edward P. Pitlock, the young Chicagoan and World War veteran, whose presence in the house was at first believed by the police to have given rise to the fatal quarrel between the husband and wife.

Among other things Mr Hubbard had written:

"To office with Eddie." "Eddie" was the familiar name for the young former service man. "To movie with Ed," was another entry, and yet another was "To camp with Eddie." This last referred to the Summer camp owned by, the Germicide King.

Young Pitlock, who had been a guest of the Hubbards for four days, fled when the quarrel broke out between Mr. and Mrs. Hubbard that led to the shooting.

MRS. HUBBARD TO CLAIM SELF-DEFENCE FOR HUSBAND'S MURDER

PLEADS NOT GUILTY WHEN ARRAIGNED AND IS HELD WITHOUT BAIL FOR GRAND JURY

to acts of Mrs. Hubbard in the house, but Medical Examiner Leary, who now has the diary, refused to make any other information regarding the book public at this time.

Mrs. Hubbard's plea in the forthcoming trial for murder will be self defence, according to her attorney, Willard P. Lombard, who made a statement to that effect immediately after his client was arraigned in the West Roxbury District Court today.

"Mrs. Hubbard was repeatedly threatened by her husband, and once he even went so far as to thrust the muzzle of the very pistol with which she shot him against her forehead,' declared the attorney.

"That is why she hid the pistol between the mattresses of their bed —to keep it away from him."

At her arraignment Mrs. Hubbard, who had been all night in the Jamaica Plain police station and had been taken to police headquarters today to be questioned by Inspector James A. Dennessey, appeared cool and collected, although her face was slightly flushed.

Every effort was taken by the authorities to spare her as much as possible. She was taken in through the basement of the West Roxbury Court to avoid the battery of newspaper photographers awaiting her arrival and escorted upstairs to the court as soon as her case was called.

She answered all questions in a quiet, rather low voice, and through Attorney Lombard pleaded not guilty and waived examination. She was held without bail for the action of the Grand Jury and committed to the Charles street jail.

Her son, Joseph Marshall Hubbard, went to the court to be with her, but the sight of the waiting newspaper men frightened him and he disappeared.

PITLOCK'S STORY.

While Mrs. Hubbard was telling her story to the police and going through the formality of being photographed and questioned at the Rogues' Gallery, Edward P. Pitlock, World War veteran, whose presence in the Hubbard home is believed by the police to have been the reason back of the fatal quarrel between the "Germidide King" and Mrs. Hubbard, told his story to a reporter for the Boston American.

Pitlock fled from the house when the quarrel between the husband and wife threatened to involve him.

"I live in Chicago," he said, "but since the war I worked for a time in Boston. Then I went back to my father's home in Chicago. Four days ago I came to Boston for a rest and a stay, as my health has been poor.

"During the war, while I was attached to the Charlestown Navy Yard as an enlisted man, Mr. and Mrs. Hubbard entertained me with four other sailors at Thanksgiving and Christmas. They were both of them most kind to me.

"So when I came back to Boston four days ago I called them up and told them I was in town. Both of them invited me to go to their home, and I did so.

WENT FOR WALK.

"They were delightful host and hostess. Mr. Hubbard was most considerate, taking me for a number of auto rides, a visit to his office and to his Summer camp.

"Yesterday Mr. Hubbard was away from home and Mrs. Hubbard and I went for a walk. When we returned, shortly after 4 o'clock, I went into a front room on the ground floor to select a book.

"I was in there when Mr. Hubbard came in.

"As soon as he came in he began berating Mrs. Hubbard. I picked up a paper and pretended to read, not wishing to take any part in a family row.

"I suppose my movement attracted Mr. Hubbard's attention, for he turned threateningly toward me. I took my hat and left the house by the rear entrance, as to go out of the front door would have taken me past the angry man.

"From the Hubbard house I went to the United States Hotel, where I had a room, and there I spent the night. It was not until I picked up a paper this morning that I learned of the shooting, and that I was wanted to tell the police what I knew of the affair.

"I immediately called police headquarters and was told to report to Captain Clinton E. Bowley of the West Roxbury station. I did so, and have told him all I know. Yesterday was the first time I ever had trouble with Mr. Hubbard, and it is the first time I ever heard any dispute between Mr. Hubbard and his wife. I have been friendly with Joseph Hubbard, one of the sons of Mr and Mrs. Hubbard."

GREETED BY SON.

From the West Roxbury station Pitlock was taken under escort of a patrolman to Inspector James A. Dennessey's office at headquarters where he repeated his story. Just before leaving West Roxbury station he passed Joseph Hubbard, who was sitting in the station.

"Hello, Eddie," exclaimed young Hubbard on seeing Pitlock, and the latter went over and placed his hand on the shoulder of the slain man's son. Neither of them spoke of the tragedy.

Pitlock is a short, thin and delicate-looking young man. He is the son of Joseph Pitlock of No. 1335 North Ashland avenue, Chicago, and is a graduate of St. Stanislaus Parochial School there. During the war he served on a number of transports and cruisers as an enlisted man in the navy.

He is married to a girl he met while in the service, but has not lived with her for some time.

Before her arraignment in West Roxbury Court Mrs. Hubbard was taken under guard to police headquarters, where she was photographed and finger-printed. She appeared to take the whole proceedings as a matter of course, and when asked regarding the color of her eyes, replied:

"Oh, blue or green—I don't know. Anything you please."

CLAIMS SELF-DEFENCE.

In a statement which she made to Inspector Dennessey she declared that she shot in self-defence when her husband threatened and tried to attack her.

Hubbard, who was fifty-one, was intoxicated at the time, she said. She added that he had been drinking heavily for some days.

Police are also investigating the possibility that Mrs. Hubbbard may have shot her husband following a fit of rage on her part over possible friendships he may have had with other women.

Mrs. Hubbard in her statement said nothing about this contingency. But the police believe that this theory may be the correct one, and are determined to make a thorough investigation into Mr. Hubbard's life during the past year or so.

First news of the shooting came when Mrs. Hubbard called Dr. Arthur Sawyer of No. 8 Conway street on the telephone. In calm, even tones she informed him that she had shot her husband and asked him to come over and examine him.

On his way to the house Dr. Sawyer stopped at the West Roxbury police station and told Captain C. E. Bowley about it. Captain Bowley dispatched Patrolmen Keyes and Brower to accompany him, and the three proceeded to the Hubbard residence, a comfortable frame affair of two and one-half stories.

Arriving at the house the men found Mr. Hubbard's body lying at the foot of the stairs in the first floor hallway. He had been shot once, through the left breast. Dr. Sawyer bent over and examined the body. Death had been instantaneous.

STRUCK HER IN FACE.

Mrs. Hubbard was arrested and taken to the West Roxbury station to be transferred shortly afterward to the Jamaica Plain station where there are more suitable accommodations for women prisoners.

Police at the West Roxbury station declare Mrs. Hubbard was one of the most self-possessed prisoners they had ever taken into custody.

Her first remark on entering the station was:

"Gee, I'm hungry. Get me something to eat."

Mrs. Hubbard insists that she shot her husband in self-defence. When she entered the house after being out for a short time, she said, Mr. Hubbard began a drunken vilification of her. This proceeded rapidly to threats of bodily harm, she added. Finally she grew genuinely frightened, as she saw him making ready to carry out his threats.

The climax came, the wife says, when Mr. Hubbard reached over and struck her in the face.

Dashing up the stairs to their bedroom, she continues, she reached between the mattresses of the bed and drew out a thirty-eight calibre revolver, an old one, that had been kept there for a long time.

She returned to the head of the stairs. Mr. Hubbard was coming up the stairs, she said, cursing her. She levelled the gun and called to him to stop.

He did not stop. Then ——

"He came toward me and I pulled the trigger," she says.

Shot through the heart, Mr. Hubbard reeled, slumped down limply on the staircase, and slid to the floor at the foot. Mrs. Hubbard went to the telephone and called Dr. Sawyer.

The police version of the affair is slightly different.

Pitlock, the young Chicago ex-service man, is said by the officials to have been a visitor at the Hubbard home for about a week. He was there as a "friend of the family," they say, and was much attached to Mrs. Hubbard.

During the afternoon shortly before the murder, police say, the veteran and Mrs. Hubbard had been walking in the neighborhood of their home. They returned to the house, expecting that Mr. Hubbard was still away.

HOW QUARREL STARTED.

Police declare that Mr. Hubbard became enraged with his wife when she returned to the house. Pitlock entered the house with her, it is said, and the husband instantly accused her of entertaining too great a friendship for him, and ordered him to leave.

As the quarrel grew hotter, Mr. Hubbard darted for his wife, crying that he would inflict bodily punishment on her. At this point, according to the police, Pitlock fled.

Marshall Hubbard, a son of the couple, said he had met the young officer, and said that Pitlock had made their acquaintance during the war. He added that his father had complained to him that Pitlock's presence was objectionable to him, but that he himself had never noticed anything wrong with the youth.

Medical Examiner Leary announced he had found a note to Mrs. Hubbard from Pitlock. He refused to make its contents public.

"HAD TO BE," SHE TELLS SON.

At the police station she was calm and collected. A grown son, J. Marshall Hubbard, who lives in West Roxbury, was called to the station by the officers. His mother embraced him.

"I'm sorry, Marshall, but this had to be," she said quietly.

Dr. Sawyer remarked to the officers that she made the same remark to him when he arrrived at the house in response to her summons.

Another son, Edward Hubbard, is a lieutenant in the British Flying Corps. He is now in New York, and has been summoned.

The argument between Mr. and Mrs. Hubbard must have arisen very suddenly. Neighbors say that on the night before the shooting the husband and wife went about the streets, arm in arm, hanging May baskets on doors of their friends.

Medical Examiner Leary is conducting an investigation into the case.

Mr. Hubbard and his wife had lived at the Roslindale address for twenty-five years. Mr. Hubbard's father founded the Hubbard Germicide Companay, and the son took the business over on his father's death.

He was a thirty-second degree Mason and a Shriner. Mrs. Hubbard has been active in church circles and in social service work.

On Thanksgiving Day last fall, it is said, a number of Pitlock's friends from a local service hospital were guests at the Hubbard residence. Pitlock has been in this city for medical attention. He has a wife and child in Chicago.

PITLOCK LEFT WIFE AND BABY TO COME HERE

Father of Young Veteran Tells of His Friendship With Hubbard Family

By Cosmopolitan News Service.

Chicago, May 3.—Edward Pitlock, whose alleged attentions to Mrs. Carrie N. Hubbard led to a quarrel in which she shot and killed her husband, William B. Hubbard, in the Hubbard home, was identified today as the son of Joseph Pitlock, No. 1358 North Ashland avenue.

Young Pitlock has a wife and a baby a few months old living with her relatives in Tell place on the Northwest Side. He quarreled with his wife and left Chicago a week ago Saturday to get employment in Boston, his father said.

"Edward is one of three sons, who served in the navy," said the elder Pitlock. "This affair will break his mother's heart.

"Edward was only eighteen when he went into the navy. He was sent to the Charlestown Navy Yard near Boston. While there he met a son of Mrs. Hubbard.

BECAME VERY ILL.

"Edward and young Hubbard became very close friends. Then Mrs. Hubbard met Edward. She took a liking to the lad. She would give him little things the same as her son.

"When the war was over and the boys were discharged, Edward remained in Boston for a time and often visited the home of the Hubbards. They were all good friends and the Hubbards seemed to think a lot of my boy.

"While in Boston Edward contracted a severe cold. He didn't take care of it in time and it developed into tuberculosis. He became so ill that he left the Hubbards very suddenly and returned to Chicago.

"He went to many physicians in Chicago. Most of them advised him to seek another climate. So my boy went to New Mexico. He stayed there many months and his health improved.

"More than a year ago he came home. A short time later he was married. A baby girl was born to his wife only a few months ago. A week ago Saturday Edward and his wife quarreled and he left her.

"He came home to us for a short time and then left for Boston. He told us he was going to Boston to get work. We heard nothing more until late last week, when we got a letter. It was written on the stationery of Mr. Hubbard's chemical plant.

"Ed wrote that his health was failing again; that he was gradually getting worse and that soon he would be forced to go back to New Mexico.

"But Edward was a mere boy. Mrs. Hubard is old enough to be his mother. They say Mr. Hubbard accused her of being too friendly with my boy. Such a thing is ridiculous to my mind; I can't conceive of a mere boy making love to a woman old enough to be his mother."

ARRESTED IN SLAYING, MARRIES GIRL OF 16

Springfield, May 3.—Eugene Scibelli, brought back from Jersey City, N. J., where he was arrested for the murder of Antonio Bonavito in this city in December, 1920, entered a plea of not guilty in District Court today and was held without bonds. Scibelli was married in Jersey City yesterday to Miss Adelina Santaniello, sixteen, whom he was charged with abducting. She came to this city last night.

WAITRESS OF 17 GOT STOLEN LINGERIE

2 Others Held in Connection With Night Thefts From Store at Winthrop

Regina Shorey, seventeen years old, of Grovers avenue, Winthrop Highlands, a former waitress at the Winthrop Arms Hotel, was found guilty in East Boston Court today of receiving $300 worth of ladies' silk lingerie from the store of Claire Paine, Jefferson and Putnam streets, Winthrop Centre.

She was given a suspended sentence of one month in the House of Correction. She told the court she would leave today for her home in Berwick, Me.

Gordon Corkhum, twenty-one, of Shirley street, Winthrop, who was found in the girl's room the day Miss Shorey was arrested, waived examination to the complaint of breaking and entering the Paine store and the larceny of $1,000 worth of silk lingerie.

He was also charged with breaking and entering in the night time the home of Benjamin Knudson, of No. 179 Pauline street, and the barber shop of Michael Muscuso, of Main street, Winthrop. He was held for the Grand Jury in $3,500.

Paul Goldman, sixteen years old, of Shirley street, Winthrop, was also arraigned in the juvenile session, charged with breaking and entering and larceny in the night time at the Paine store. His case was continued for one week and he was held in $2,500.

Through the work of Chief William A. McNeil and Lieutenant James H. Douglas of the Winthrop police, all of the stolen property was recovered.

OPEN FIGHT OVER $100,000 TROWBRIDGE ESTATE

Trial of the suit to break the will of the late Mrs. Flora A. Trowbridge, of Franklin, was begun today in the Superior Court at Dedham. Mrs. Trowbridge died May 27, 1921, leaving most of her $100,000 estate to George Uebelecker, who had been a foreman in her husband's factory. Mrs. Emma T. Kingsbury of Chicago, sister-in-law of Mrs. Trowbridge, is making the fight on the will, and is assisted by her two daughters, Bernice Kingsbury and Mrs. Arleen Jones.

They allege that undue influence was used in getting Mrs. Trowbridge to leave her wealth to Uebelecker. The first two witnesses were Alice Wiggin and Sarah N. Cushing, who witnessed the signing of the will by which Uebelecker got the money, while Mrs. Trowbridge's relatives were ignored.

ANOTHER BLAZE HITS TREASURY BUILDING

By the Associated Press.

Washington, May 3.—For the second time in three months, firemen today battled with a stubborn fire in the room of the Treasury Department which for a time assumed menacing proportions as the flames, burning through a long superstructure, leaped high in the air and cast a threatening glow on the White House itself, while sparks wafted across to its surrounding terrace.

When discovered about 1:45 a. m. the flames already had gained considerable headway and were soaring to a height of thirty or forty feet when fire apparatus responding to five alarms arrrived at the scene, gaining impetus about that time from a dull, rumbling explosion which firemen believe was caused by building materials stored for use in the present work of raising the roof of the structure.

for twenty minutes or half an hour."

Another time, the witness said, he met Professor Greenfield coming out of the Brattle street home about 9:30 p. m.

"I said, 'Hello, Eric,' but he did not answer," testified Cook.

Continuing his testimony, Mr. Cook declared he went to his wife's house after he had been served with the divorce papers and that he found there certain letters from Mr. Greenfield, from Lafayette, Ind.

One of the letters read in court said:

TELLS OF LOVE.

"Dear Gudrida:

"You may read this letter to Walter. Possibly it would be better if Lyman did not hear it. It is very personal in that it will tell you of some of my perplexities and how, strange to say, you may enter into what I do or don't do.

"It is like this. I told you of a Miss J., a French girl, a brilliant girl now teaching in Lille, France, a Protestant, thirty years old. I think much of her. I also told you of a Miss Bechard, twenty-eight, whom I love still more, although she is not so pretty nor so educated a girl.

"Now, Miss B. and I love each other and hope some day to marry, but she is awfully Catholic and she insists we be married by a priest (be assured I will never become a Catholic).

"Now, I, both a divorced man and a Protestant, can marry her provided you have never been baptized or sprinkled. I have talked with Father Dineen and he says the Catholic Church looks upon the question thusly: If you were baptized and I was, then our marriage was valid and no one can divorce us. If either party were not baptized or sprinkled, then the marriage was void.

"We were never married, we were never divorced and I can marry if I wish.

"STRANGE, STRANGE WORLD."

"In all probability I shall not marry before July, 1922. I don't want to, anyway. This is a strange, strange world, and it is indeed a peculiar thing that the fact whether you have been baptized should play such a role in my life. If you have been, I think she will say it can never be, and in all probability I would go to France next Summer for a visit, and in 1922 for a wife. These two girls are absolutely different, and I think deply of both.

"Isn't this a strange letter? Well, I think so, too. When you answer it, please say nothing to indicate what I have said of these people. May I hear from you in a very few days, for I am in a dilemma? God bless you and make you all happy and keep you well.

(Signed) "ERIC."

The witness told of having been offered $6,000 by his wife to go to Europe and allow her to get the divorce unopposed.

AYER IS BARRED AT SERVICES FOR GIRL WHO DIED FOR LOVE

FORBIDDEN TO ATTEND BY FAMILY

Harbours Object to Presence of Poison Victim's Winthrop Suitor

Funeral services, in the presence of her family at the Curtis Undertaking Rooms in Roxbury today, wrote the final chapter in the tragic story of Alice L. Harbour, victim of two unfortunate love affairs, who died of poisoning at the Commonwealth Hotel, Sunday.

Albert L. Ayer, the married Winthrop business man, for love of whom it is believed the girl died after taking veronal at the Commonwealth Hotel, Sunday night, did not attend the services. Members of the dead girl's family had forbidden his attendance.

Ayer, who with his wife and children lives at No. 176 Woodside avenue, Winthrop Centre, became taciturn, and refused to discuss the case, which, up to that time, both he and his wife had talked about most freely.

DENY ROOMING TOGETHER.

Both Ayer and members of Miss Harbour's family emphatically denied a report that the Winthrop man and the girl had engaged a room in a Newbury street lodging house last February under the name of "Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Blanchard of Kneeland street, Binghamton, N. Y.," and remained there a week.

William Harbour, one of the dead girl's brothers stated positively that his sister had been at home every night during the month of February. Ayer characterized the story as "silly."

That Miss Harbour's infatuation for the married Winthrop man was not her first violent love affair, developed, when her brother, Forest Harbour, broke his silence.

"Some five years ago she was in love with a man who jilted her to marry another girl," he declared.

BROODED OVER FIRST JILTING.

"This man came frequently to our home, and Alice's infatuation for him was apparent. We all trusted him as a good friend of hers. Suddenly they broke off with each other. Shortly after we learned that he married another girl. My sister was broken hearted.

"She brooded over this, and wept whenever his name was mentioned. She was very high strung and emotional. It was necessary to watch her carefully. We were afraid that her disillusionment might unbalance her mind."

Girl's Father Engaged to Fall River Woman

Fall River, May 3.—Mrs. Bertha V. Borden, No. 192 Lincoln avenue, who is engaged to Jefferson L. Harbour, father of Alice L. Harbour, the young woman who was found dead from an overdose of veronal in Hotel Commonwealth, Boston, characterized the victim as a girl of exemplary character and fine personality.

Fear of Electricity Costs Life of Woman 92

By International News Service.

New York, May 3.—An old-fashioned fear of electricity cost Mrs. Elizabeth Steurer, 92 years old, mother of Charles D. Steurer, publisher of the Bank Reporter, her life today.

She had refused to have electric lights in her apartment on West One Hundred and Forty-eighth street.

Arising during the night she overturned a lamp in lighting it, and struggled desperately to put out the flames. She was discovered dead in the middle of the floor with her clothing burned off, a running tap in the bathroom and a pan by her side told the story of her attempt to fight the flames.

MAN SAVED FROM UNDER WHEELS OF ELEVATED

James Sullivan, fifty years old, of No. 61 Sterling street, Malden, narrowly escaped being ground to pieces today when he fell into the pit at the Thompson square elevated station just as a train of five cars was coming into the station.

He was seen by Motorman John Anderson, who applied the emergency brakes and brought the train to a stop within twelve feet of him.

The train crew, with Special Officer James Peoples, lifted the man from the pit and carried him downstairs to the ambulance from the Charlestown police station. He was taken to the Relief Hospital, where it was found he was badly shaken up from the fall into the pit and was held for observation.

A week ago yesterday a man was instantly killed at the same station when he was struck by a train.

GIRLS FLEE FIRE ON ATLANTIC AVENUE

Employes Rush to Street as Acid Explodes in Engraving Company Plant

A score of girls fled the Hathaway building at Atlantic avenue and Summer street extension this noon when fire sent employes of the F. W. Dunbar Company, photo-engravers on the fifth floor, rushing for safety.

An electric spark ignited a carboy of nitric acid.

There was no explosion, but a rapid spread of flames.

Fire apparatus and the noise of employes running to the street started a general exodus from offices in the upper floors of the six-story building.

There were no accidents.

Damage was $3,000.

POLAND FLAYS JUDGE PIERCE AS CASE ENDS

Attorney Mayberry Weeps as He Pleads Cause of Accused Jurist

The hearing before the judiciary committee of the Legislature on the petition for the removal of Judge Edward P. Pierce of the Supreme Court ended today.

Attorneys George L. Mayberry and Herbert Parker made the closing arguments for the accused jurist, Parker denouncing the entire proceeding, and Mayberry becoming so affected as he described Judge Pierce's long service that he broke down and cried.

Attorney George M. Poland, representing the interests back of the petition for removal, was merciless in his attack upon the judge.

"Do you think a man such as Judge Pierce has been shown to be is a fit person for the supreme bench?" he asked. "That is the only question. We have nothing to do with sympathy. Neither have the sordid details of the recent trial of a district attorney anything to do with the case, although the principle of that and this case is exactly the same.

"We (the heirs of the Wood estate) are charged with malevolence toward this jurist.

SAYS HEIRS WERE RUINED.

"But we were financially ruined as one result of the acts which caused these charges to be filed.

"Judge Pierce's purpose was to have the Wood fortunes worked out by Attorney W. Edwin Ulmer. He kept Ulmer in the saddle until Ulmer rode the fortunes to ruin."

Attorney Poland, in conclusion, pointed out that the committee could, if it found charges of corruption or irregularity in Pierce's acts sustained, recommend to the Governor that Pierce be removed. The committtee took the case under advisement.

Attorney Mayberry characterized the evidence as flimsy and ridiculous.

"The major charge here seems to be that Judge Pierce was bribed with gifts of flowers," he said. "To keep the charge from being altogether absurd they have exaggerated the quantity of these flowers. I have taken the figures and find that all the flowers sent to Judge Pierce over a long period of time were not worth $100. The value of the wood and vegetables sent him, nobody has attempted to estimate.

"The other charge is that he used his official position to bolster up Attorney W. Edwin Ulmer in the management of the Wood estate. Six of the acts on which this charge is based took place before the flowers were sent.

RAPS MRS. HAND.

"Judge Pierce is accused of having tried to hurry up the settlement of the Wood estate. But it appears as if all the parties concerned at that time must have wished for an early settlement. And certainly his course was not that of a man seeking to keep Ulmer longer in control of the property."

Attorney Mayberry referred to Mrs. Hand, one of the Wood heirs, and a principal witness against Judge Pierce, as "distrustful and hypocritical," and said her testimony was unquestionably false.

He continued that in the Wood and Jordan cases (to which the petitioners for Judge Pierce's removal devoted much time) Ulmer was displeased with Hill as master and petitioned the court for a change, which was not granted.

WIDOW DENIES PEGGY CAUSED SEPARATION

Paris, May 3.—The Chilean legation statement that Peggy Hopkins Joyce's story that "Billy" Errazuris committed suicide because of jealousy was an "astute but brazen attempt to secure publicity," is flatly denied by Henri Letellier.

The "other man" in the fatal triangle, interviewed by Universal Service, declared:

"It was common knowledge among Peggy's friends that young Errazuriz was madly in love with her, and that he was constantly reproaching her for receiving attentions from others, and because she was always the centre for an admiring group of men."

Madame Errazuriz, the young wife of "Billy," who reached her husband's bedside just as he died, however, authorized a statement denying Peggy's claim that he was madly infatuated with her.

INCIDENTS OF DOUBLE KILLING REVEALED

[illegible] came home and called Mrs. Powell and Michael J. Maloney, the butler, to [illegible] room. A quarrel ensued. Powell pulled out an automatic revolver and fired three shots at the butler.

No. 2—Powell then shot down his wife. The butler fled in terror from the room.

USES CANARIES IN DEATH TEST

New York, May 3.—Three canaries will be used to test the theory of District Attorney Ruston of Brooklyn that fumigating gas killed Mr. and Mrs. Freemont M. Jackson, found dead last week in their suite in the Hotel Margaret.

Mr. Ruston announced that Albert J. Bradich, a vermin exterminator who fumigated servants' quarters below the Jackson suite the day before their bodies were found, would re-enact the fumigation, sealing the servants quarters as he had before, and releasing the same quantity of cyanogen gas.

A live canary will be placed in each room of the Jackson suite. If they survive Mr. Ruston will discard his theory. If any of them succomb, a homicide charge may be lodged against Bradich, who is in custody of a detective, though not under arrest, pending the test.

Dr. Ernest M. Vaughn, medical assistant to Mr. Ruston, said cyanogen was one of the most deadly gases employed on the western front as a weapon during the World War.

PLEASURE AND BUSINESS COMBINED BY CHIEF

Home Brewing on Decline in N. E., Haynes Says

By Associated Press.

Washington, May 3.—Home brewing is on the decline in New England, Prohibition Commissioner Haynes declared today on the basis of reports from that section.

The reports state, he added, that the demand for yeast, hops and malt had dropped off by half from the peak of "the home brewing fad."

CHARGE UNRULY BOYS RUN OWN 'KU KLUX KLAN'

The Ku Klux Klan has broken into the Massachusetts Home for the Feeble Minded at Waverly.

Superintendent Fernald of the institution appeared in Waltham Court today with five boy inmates of the home in tow.

"They're members of the Ku Klux Klan," he told Judge Connolly. "That's what they call themselves.

"They have some kind of secret society, at any rate, devote most of their time to breaking rules and morale, and when one of them is attacked all are attacked. They recently beat up an atendant who had reprimanded one of their little band."

Dr. Fernald also spoke of a carving knife incident and other exciting happenings traceable to the "Klan" and declared he had no way of treating such boys in his institution and wanted to get rid of them.

The boys charged that they were sent to bed without supper and generally abused. Judge Connolly continued the case until Tuesday, and the boys, ranging from fourteen to sixteen years, were sent to East Cambridge Jail to await trial.

NEWBURY CIDER MAN HALTS REMOVAL OF STOCK

James Adams of Newbury, a manufacturer of cider and vinegar, with a permit from the Internal Revenue Department, today, through his attorney, filed a petition in the Federal Court restraining James P. Roberts, Prohibition Enforcement Director, from removing 216 barrels of cider from his farm. Forty barrels have already been removed to a storehouse in Newbury. Director Roberts today was served with subpoena to appear in the Federal Court next Monday afternoon to show cause why this injunction should not issue.

White's Widow Had Use of $1,000,000 Under Will

Mrs. Powell was principal beneficiary in the will of her first husband, R. H. White. He left property valued at close to $2,000,000. Of this, Mrs. White received the use of half during her life. The other half was divided among their three children, while on her death the will provided that her share should be divided among them.

POWELL TRIED TO KILL BUTLER

Elaborate precautions taken by Medical Examiner George L. West and Newton police to clothe the tragedy in mystery failed.

The maid, questioned by detectives after an all-night investigation, gave a graphic account of what happened in the pretentious home with its old-world furnishings.

She told how the irate husband entered shortly before six o'clock to find his wife and Maloney in the living room.

There followed the altercation with such sensational charges that servants rushed from their quarters in the back of the house. Bending forward with hands cupped to ears were the cook, scullery maid, upstairs girl and dining room maid. More daring than the others was the parlor maid, who slipped forward and pinned her right eye to the keyhole of the living room door.

Suddenly she stepped back and the servants ran frightened toward the kitchen. There were three shots and then out ran the butler.

Powell then fired at his wife and fled upstairs. Four shots followed, then all was still.

CONFUSION IN HOUSE.

There reigned confusion in the big house for at least two hours. Frightened servants huddled together. Maids cried. The cook whimpered.

In the living room the mistress dead. Upstairs the master dead. Their immediate master, Maloney, the butler, a nervous wreck from the tragedy he was accused of bringing about.

Somebody finally telephoned relatives. Doctors were summoned and two hours later police and the medical examiner, Dr. George West, notified.

Their investigations were clothed in mystery. A guard was thrown about the house. Orders were issued to admit no one. Even District Attorney Endicott P. Saltonstall was refused admittance. Reporters were told it was "murder and suicide."

It was at first said that the tragedy was caused by "insanity" on the part of Powell. Not until today were the real facts uncovered by a Boston American reporter.

Then the elaborate guard of Newton police and private detectives which had been strung about the big house and grounds all night was lifted. Servants for the first time in 20 hours were allowed out. Since two hours after the double killing they had been practically prisoners.

GUN IN HAND.

It was first believed Powell's gun jammed after he had killed his wife. It is more likely, police believe, that he emptied the cartridge clip of his automatic and sought another gun to end his own life, after first tossing the empty gun by the side of his dead wife.

In his right hand when his body was removed from his room upstairs was the second gun in a stiffened hand clutch.

Mr. and Mrs. Powell were married in 1917, a few months after the death of Mr. White, who was known as the founder and head of the department store that bears his name. Mr. White had had three children by his first wife: Mrs. Arthur Sargent of Brookline, Mrs. Chester A. Howe of Chestnut Hill, and R. Herbert White.

Mr. Powell had also been married before. He has a daughter, Ruth, living in New York.

The Powells have been living recently at their Summer home, No. 39 Essex road, in the Chestnut Hill section of Newton. They had a Winter home on the Fenway.

Mrs. Powell was principal beneficiary in the will of her first husband, Mr. White. He left property valued at close to $2,000,000. Of this, Mrs. White received the use of half during her life. The other half was divided among their three children, while on her death the will provided that her share should be divided among them.

A squad of Newton police officers were thrown about the grounds of the home. Nobody was allowed within except the police and medical examiner and his assistant.

BOTH WERE 57.

The house was built by the late R. H. White twenty years ago and the property was willed to Mrs. Powell by him. It was to remain in her possession, under the will, until her death and then to revert to the children.

The house is a three-story brick structure. A double driveway leads up to it. Across the street from the Powell home is the residence of George S. Mumford. In the rear is the Chestnut Hill Reservoir.

Mr. and Mrs. Powell were both fifty-seven years old. Despite reports of a quarrel, caretakers at their Fenway apartment said they had never noticed any evidences of trouble of any sort between them. The two left the Fenway home to go to Newton for the Summer, the day before yesterday. Their furniture had been moved in during the weeks preceding.

The apartment in the house on the Fenway, which was built by the late Mr. White and is owned by his estate, is a palatial affair, containing twenty rooms. It was formerly occupied by Mr. and Mrs. White.

Dun Official Amazed by Tragedy

New York, May 3.—W. Ferguson, general manager of the R. G. Dun Company, of No. 390 Broadway, when told of the tragedy that had overtaken W. B. Powell, the Dun Company district manager in Boston, made this statement:

"Mr. Powell has been employed by the Dun Company for thirty years. He was regarded as one of our best men. He was the district manager in Boston, having supervision over Massachusetts, New Hampshire and Maine. So far as I know, he was financially well off. He had a good income. I never heard of his having any financial difficulties.

"Powell was the sort of man one can scarcely believe to have committed an act as this unless he was insane. He was always a genial business associate. He was well liked and was a man of great ability in his line."

CLAIMS CHECK FOR WHISKEY BOGUS

Springfield, May 3.—H. Marks of New York city today applied to District Attorney Wright for an indictment against four Springfield men who, he alleged, had swindled him and a companion in a deal for fourteen cases of whiskey by giving a check for $1,581, which turned out to be worthless.

Marks first told his story to the police and by them was referred to the district attorney. He said the check, marked "certified," was returned by the local bank on which it was drawn. Marks was advised by the distret attorney to go before the Grand Jury.

REPUBLICAN CHIEF DEFIES REBEL CAPTORS

Belfast, May 3.—Commandant McKenna, chief of the Republican forces at Dundalk, was held up by Free States while motoring through Carrickmarcross, County Monaghan.

Five armed men boarded the Commandant's car and ordered the chauffeur to proceed to the barracks. Upon arrival there, Commandant McKenna declined to enter. When he continued to refuse, the barracks windows were flung open and rifles protruded. The chauffeur remained at his wheel, however, and ultimately the car was permitted to proceed.

BIG BATTLE FOR IRISH CASTLE

Kilkenny, Ireland, May 3. (By the Associated Press.)—Sharp fighting, with machine guns rattling in all directions, was in progress here today, Free State troops trying to recapture Ormond Castle, still held by irregulars, who yesterday were driven out of other places they had captured.

The castle is really a strong fortress on the banks of the River Nore and is considered impregnable except by artillery.

At ten o'clock this morning storming parties, under Colonel Prout of the Dail Eireann official forces, advanced on the castle along different routes, followed by an armored car.

They were fired upon by snipers in the streets and a fierce engagement ensued, well-directed fire being maintained against the castle from several angles.

The Imperial Hotel, which is dominated by the castle and which has been occupied since its recapture by Dail troops, is under fire from the castle garrison.

The latest report was that one Dail soldier had been wounded.

REINFORCEMENTS ARRIVE.

The irregulars, who yesterday were driven from the Parliament street barracks, formed the main part of the castle's defenders. A party of irregulars from Tipperary arrived today to reinforce the garrison, and the roads leading into the city were blocked to prevent reinforcements from coming to the aid of the Dail troops.

The defenders of the castle are said to be well equipped with provisions.

The morning train from Dublin arrived while the fighting was in progress, and passengers alighting here were forced to take shelter in the railway tunnel. The postoffice also was in the danger zone.

Two Policemen Slain in Fresh Outbreak

By International News Service.

Dublin, May 3.—The Dail Eireann (Sinn Fein Parliament) met today to settle the date of the Irish election, and as the members assembled news was received here of further violence in the north.

A policeman was killed and another wounded in one outbreak of disorder. Fighting between Free State troops and irregulars spread over a good part of County Kilkenny the past twenty-four hours. More than 100 rebels were captured, together with their arms.

4 HURT AT FIRE IN BROCKTON; 20 IN PERIL

Girl on Danger List at Hospital After Blaze Sweeps Lodging House

Brockton, May 3.—Four persons were seriously injured and a score of others imperilled today in a lodging house fire at No. 76 Green street.

The fire started in a rubbish bin in the basement, and its spread was rapid.

The injured, all at the Brockton Hospital, are:

Miss Helen Dunn, burned about the face and arms and chest. Her name is on the danger list.

Edward Hunt, who was found overcome by smoke and taken down a ladder by the firemen.

Herbert Evans, fifty-two, who was found unconscious at the foot of the stairs in the lodging house.

Alzara Almelan, who was trapped on the third floor and jumped from the window, sustaining a fractured leg.

2 Overcome at $20,000 Brockton Theatre Fire

Brockton, May 3.—More than 10,000 people of Brockton watched a $20,000 blaze in the Orpheum Theatre building, No. 21 Elm street, while the entire fire department, turned out by a general alarm, battled until early today with the flames.

Firemen Francis Gaffey and William Sweeney were overcome by smoke, but revived and went back to duty.

SELL FRUIT AND VEGETABLES BY WEIGHT

"I'll have a pound of peas, please."

"Anything else, ma'am?"

"Yes, you can give me a dozen potatoes."

The sale of fruits, nuts and vegetables by the peck, bushel or dry weight is to be forbidden by a bill signed today by Governor Cox.

It will take effect in ninety days.

Thereafter, the sales of fruits, nuts and vegetables at retail must be by weight or numerical count, unless the goods are offered for sale in the original, standard container.

Beets, turnips, onions and rhubarb may be sold by the bunch, wherever the custom is to offer them for sale in that way.

The purpose of the law is to prevent "short-weights" by dry measure.

A special commission appointed by the Governor found that in many cases the "peck" of peas sold to the customer was a "peck" in name only.

The law is expected to cause more or less confusion for a time after it becomes operative. Merchants are looking forward with chagrin to the fussy householder who, refusing to buy beans by the pound, will say: "Give me 896 beans, please."

DRUG ADDICTS DESERT BOSTON FOR WORCESTER

Worcester, May 3.—That the drive now being waged against drug addicts in Boston is driving them into Worcester is the opinion of Chief of Police George H. Hill. "It is only natural to expect that the addicts will leave any place where it gets too hot and go to nearby cities," he said, calling attention to the fact that in the past four months nine arrests have been made here for various violations of the narcotic law.

Men whose names are on the list will not be allowed to give bail in Suffolk County. The list will include all who have been guilty of objectionable practices in bail matters, particularly those who have been flagrantly lax in the matter of paying what they owe to the county.

As a result of the district attorney's drive, a number of bondsmen went to the office of Assistant District Attorney Robert Robinson today and asked if the records showed they owed anything. In cases where the records did so show, Robinson advised them to pay as soon as possible and avoid trouble.

Several of these bondsmen maintained that they had not signed bonds they were represented as having signed, and in these cases the bail commissioners will be questioned.

Among the bondsmen was Joseph Feldman of Dorchester, an interpreter in Central Court.

Assistant District Attorney Robinson has a bill for $63.35 against him in connection with the default of a defendant years ago. Feldman maintained he thought the matter had been adjusted.

2 YEAR EXTENSION ON 3 PER CENT. ALIEN LAW

By Universal Service.

Washington, May 3.—The Senate and House adopted the conference report on the resolution extending until June 30, 1924, the 3 per cent. immigration law. It now goes to the President. A new provision added to the law penalizes steamship companies $200 for each alien brought to the United States in excess of the quota of his country. In addition, the company to refund the alien's passage money.

$8,000 ROBBERY IN HOLYOKE FUR STORE

Holyoke, May 3—Furs and dress goods valued at $8,000 were taken from the store of Hyman Bambrov, according to a report to the police, who suspect two rough-looking men whose description they have received. Entrance was effected by breaking through a door leading to the workshop. This is the second time the store has been robbed within a month, goods valued at $730 having been taken four weeks ago.

NORTH END YOUTH DROWNS IN HARBOR

Seventeen-year-old Paola Mertina was accidentally drowned when he fell from a small boat while fishing near Apple Island. The lad had gone out in the boat with his father and Antonio Francesco of No. 31 North Square. In some manner he fell into the water and, being unable to swim, was drowned before the two men could rescue him. He lived at No. 3 Baker's Alley, North End.

BETTER THAN CALOMEL
Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. These little olive-colored tablets are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel.

The pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel. Let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets takes its place.

Headaches, "dullness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "logy" and "heavy." They "clear" clouded brain and "perk up" the spirits. 15c and 30c.

The Friendly Glow

As to State Regulation:

THE authority of the State to regulate the Edison Company as a Public Utility involves the obligation of the State to protect the Company in its investment and operation.

This is fully recognized in Massachusetts, and insures conservative business practice.

There can be no speculation in the Company's financing, nor any sacrificing of one customer's interests in favor of another—two disastrous practices with competing Utilities.

FOREST FIRES ARE BEING HELD IN CHECK

Forest fires were reported today in several sections of Massachusetts, where volunteer fire fighters and regular firemen were combining to check their spread.

The fires were raging at Andover, Boxford and Middleton, where more than a thousand acres have been burned.

State Fire Commissioner Bazeley said these were the onlw big fires in progress, but added that general conditions were still dangerous.

At Westfield firemen battled with 150 volunteers to save the gatehouse of the Westfield water supply system in Granville, as well as several houses in that section, from a fire that has been raging since yesterday. Backfires are being used extensively.

Large gangs of firemen and others worked through the night. Today an alarm was sent out calling for more men.

Ten thousand young pines which had been set out on the watershed were in danger.

Hundreds of volunteers in Taunton held in check the forest fires there. In the west section of the city a thousand acres have been burned.

At East Taunton farm buildings were threatened by a fire that burned through timber from Caswell street to Middleboro avenue.

A force of thirty State constabulary was today loaned to fight the fires by Colonel Alfred F. Foote, State Commissioner of Public Safety.

They were sent to Western Massachusetts towns.

INTERNATIONAL SWINDLES LAID TO PAIR HELD

Paris, May 3 (By the Associated Press)—With the arrest of John Pincott and Arthur Ernest Cox, the French police claim to have put an end to the activities of two international crooks, one of whose last fields of endeavor was in the vicinity of Albany, N. Y., where they sold an option on a gold mine to a wealthy foreigner visiting America. The arrest was made at the request of the American Embassy. Pincott claims Melbourne, Australia, as his home, while Cox professes to be a citizen of London.

According to the police, the men have been working confidence games all over the world, at times selling oil stocks and options on public buildings or dabbling in gold bricks.

The foreigner gave $100,000 for the mine option. He must have spent much more in his efforts to meet them again, as search was made in every large city of Europe before they were located at the Hotel Crillon, where they were negotiating the sale of a Texas ranch. "Larger than the principality of Monaco, and as profitable," they described it.

The New York police report the alleged victim of Pincott and Cox is Eric Skogstadt, a Norwegian, who advanced them money in a horse race betting scheme. Skogstadt, the police said, had come to this country on a pleasure trip with Cox and Pincott and accompanied them to Albany.

CURLEY PLEADS FOR MERCHANT MARINE

Washington, May 3.—Mayor James M. Curley of Boston, in a letter received today by Chairman Greene of the House Merchant Marine Committee and read at joint hearings on the administration subsidy bill, declared an "American merchant marine without a subsidy is as helpless as a warship without guns."

Contending a policy of subsidies "would benefit the whole country," Mayor Curley added:

"Today we are face to face with the problems of industrial idleness and unemployment; they are wasteful and dangerous as those of the war; their remedy lies in new markets, foreign markets, for a production that can open idle mills and give work to idle hands; and those inlets can be reached and conquered only by American merchants and American ships, a merchant marine subsidized to meet all eventualities."

The Boston Mayor asserted it was time "for us to drop our provincial and sectional outlook; to take on a national and international viewpoint; to understand that an American merchant marine is a national instrumentality serving every part of America and building up our first line of national defence."

EPISCOPALIANS BAR WOMEN DELEGATES

Bishop Lawrence Asks for Appointment of Coadjutor at Annual Convention

Four women delegates to the Episcopal convention in Huntington Hall were refused admittance today.

Their seats were declared vacant.

It is against the canons of the church to allow other than clergymen or men laymen to represent churches at the annual convention.

Despite this law the following churches appointed women to represent them at the conference: Church of Messiah at Falmouth, St. Peter's Church at Cambridge and St. John's Church at Gloucester. Two women represented the Falmouth church. All were barred at the door.

Bishop William Lawrence, head of the diocese for twenty-three years, told the convention today he was "getting old" and "needed help." He offered to pass over his annual salary of $10,000 per year and house rent to pay a coadjutor to be appointed tomorrow.

"Create the position and fill it with a young man," he said. "I need help. I'm a back number."

The bishop is in his seventy-first year.

Action on the appointment of a coadjutor will be taken tomorrow. The Right Rev. Samuel G. Babcock, suffragan bishop of the diocese, will be appointed, it is expected.

More than three hundred laymen and two hundred and fifty-four clergymen gathered for holy communion, with which the convention was opened, in Trinity Church.

The coadjutor bishop will have the right of succession to bishop upon the death or retirement of Bishop Lawrence.

MANY CANDIDATES.

For weeks the clergy of the diocese have been holding informal meetings to consider and weed out candidates for the important office, and the laymen of the church, especially the women, have taken great interest in the coming election.

Among the candidates who have been mentioned are the Rev. William Pettus, rector of St. Mark's Church, Washington, and for nine years rector of St. James Church Somerville; Dr. Charles Lewis Slattery, rector of Grace Church, New York; Dr. Alexander Mann, Trinity Church, Boston, and the Rt. Rev. Samuel G. Babcock, suffragan bishop of the diocese.

Bishop Babcock has received the more or less open support of at least two groups within the body of the church membersip. These are the so-called "high church" group and the parishioners of the smaller parishes and missions under his personal supervision.

Immediately after services at Trinity Church the convention adjourned to Huntington Hall, where Bishop Lawrence delivered his address.

This was followed by a number of elections to minor offices. The bishop's annual report was read after these elections.

In his address Bishop Lawrence launched at once into the reasons back of his request for a coadjutor bishop.

"It is clear that the well-being and strength of the diocese in the immediate future will be served if another man, younger than I, should be called to take certain parts of the administrative work, thus leaving me free to carry responsibilities fitted to my age," he said.

Bishop Lawrence explained that the coadjutor bishop will be assigned to such "duties as will give him a free administrative hand and opportunity for leadership."

LAUDS BISHOP BABCOCK.

Much significance was attached to a statement made by Bishop Lawrence regarding Bishop Babcock.

"May I pause here at the threshold of this important action to give my testimony to Bishop Babcock's devotion, loyalty and ability, during the twenty-three years he has served the diocese," he stated.

Bishop Lawrence then gave a short sketch of the history of the diocese, showing how the need for a coadjutor bishop had become imperative.

He pointed out that the need for leadership of the younger element in the church is steadily increasing and that a man of his years—he is seventy-one—is separated by too great a gap of years to be able to enter into and comprehend the requirements of such leadership as fully and as sympathetically as would a younger man.

The war, he declared, "separated the generations and the fighters of the war are already the people of experience, while those younger than they are about to become the influential forces of society.

"The bishop who hopes to make his diocese strong in coming years must have his eyes on them and adapt his thought and administration to enlist and hold them."

"When is the church," he asked, "going to swing into line and take the lead in social movements and correcting social abuses? What has the church of this diocese to say upon the justice of man with man in industrial life, of prevention of prostitution and the care of the helpless and outcasts? It is necessary if we are Christians that we be aroused to think and feel the weight of these problems which the younger generation must meet."

He then assigned, as required by the canon, the following duties to the incoming coadjutor bishop: The care and oversight, without confirmation, of all self-supporting parishes and the general oversight of the Church Service League, it's organization and it's work.

SCENES AT STORE EMPLOYES' ANNUAL EVENT

Sketches of many of leading figures at annual merrymaking gathering held under auspices of Mutual Benefit Association. The ball was the most successful in the history of the organization.

STORE EMPLOYES IN ANNUAL BALL

There were 1,200 present at the Shepard Stores dance held at the Hotel Somerset last evening. The guests of honor were Mr. and Mrs. John Shepard Jr. Mr. Shepard is president of the Boston and Providence Shepard Stores.

Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Franklin Jones, general manager of the store; Mr. and Mrs. Beatty Stevens, sales publicity manager, and Mr. and Mrs. William H. Keane, service superintendent and chairman of the dance committee. Lieutenant Governor Fuller was also guest of honor.

The patronesses comprised members of the store staff. They were: Mrs. Florence Hall, Mrs. Edith Frazier, Mrs. Mary McMann, Miss Mary McLaughlin, Mrs. Catherine McHugh, Mrs. Florence Pelerin and Mrs. Barbara McCellan.

An entertainment between dances was enjoyed. Miss June Moody of Roslindale gave several professional toe dances. Miss Alma Kiernan, with Mr. Althar, gave an exhibition dance. R. Devlin contributed a number of female impersonations, and Alfred Maguire, tenor soloist, and Miss Vera Keane, contralto, also entertained.

The officers of the Mutual Benefit Association were all present. They are: Philip O'Keefe, president; Oscar R. Sweet, secretary; George Tupper, treasurer.

The floor marshal was William Keane, assisted by Joseph McHugh, George Fay and William Stone and Winfield Knowles.

The general dance committee consisted of one person from each department of the store, with the following chairmen: Mrs. Mary Uniack, Mr. John Mitchell, Leo Murphy, Ann Condran, Helen McGurdy and Helen O'Donnell.

This was by far the largest and best dance ever held by the Shepard Stores. It was a success both [illegible] and socially.

U. S. GUNBOAT IN CHINESE WAR DISTRICT

Peking, May 3.—Today's advices to the American military attaches state that General Wu's main army appears to be engaged in a drive toward Tien-Tsin. Severe fighting has occurred along the Hun River.

It was announced at General Chang Tsao-Lin's headquarters today that General Wu Pei-Fu, the Central Chinese leader, has been killed in action. The announcement has not been confirmed.

Artillery firing is reported along a wide range front at Machang, south of Tien-Tsin, on the Pukow Railroad, where large forces of General Chang's troops are concentrated under the command of his son.

Wu Pei-Fu's drive toward Tien-Tsin is designed to isolate Chang Tsao-Lin's forces by cutting their line between Tien-Tsin and Taku, on the sea. Success of this move also would result in the cutting off of General Chang's 40,00 men north of Tien-Tsin.

Fighting has been resumed south of the Peking wall. A terrific explosion today was attributed to the destruction of an arsenal by bombs dropped from airplanes operating for General Chang's army.

Admiral Joseph Strauss, commander of the American Asiatic fleet, after a conference with Minister Schurman, ordered the gunboat Wilmington to proceed from Hongkong to Tien-Tsin. The foreign vessels now at Tien-Tsin include three Japanese torpedoboats, a British submarine tender, a French gunboat and an Italian gunboat.

"GATLING GUN" PARKER TO SEEK SEAT IN SENATE

St. Louis, May 3.—Colonel John Parker, U. S. A., commander of the army post at Jefferson Barracks, near this city, will announce his candidacy for the Republican nomination for United States Senator May 10, according to today's Globe Democrat. Colonel Parker, a native Misourian, has served in the army thirty-four years. He is known as "Gatling Gun Parker."

Chinese General Is Beheaded After 10-Mile Loss

Copyright, 1922, by International News Service.

Wu Pei Fu's Headquarters, Pao Ting-Fu, China, May 3.—Cowardice will not be tolerated in the armies of Wu Pie Fu.

A general, after a ten-mile retreat, was beheaded and his head mounted on the City Hall as an example to Wu's armies.

Wu ordered the general's successor to recover the ten miles lost or meet the same fate.

URGE NATIONAL HOME FOR JEWS IN PALESTINE

Washington, May 3.—A declaration favoring establishment of a national home for Jewish people in Palestine, as urged by many prominent American Jewish organizations, is made in a resolution by Senator Lodge, Republican, Massachusetts, reported unanimously today by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. The resolution declares for non-interference with persons of other than Jewish faith in Palestine and also for protection of Christian shrines.

OSER CABLES, BUT MATHILDE IS SILENT

By Associated Press.

Paris, May 3.—Max Oser is surprised at the failure of Miss Mathilde McCormick, his fiancee, to answer his cable messages, and disappointed because she did not appear at Zurich last month, when he expected her, according to a Zurich dispatch to the Herald.

The former riding master declines, however, to discuss reports of an estrangement with John D. Rockefeller's granddaughter, to whom he became engaged prior to her departure from Switzerland a few months ago.

Oser said he had addressed several messages to the Lake Shore home of the McCormick family in Chicago, but had received no reply.

McCULLOUGH TO PROBE ARMY CAMP FRAUDS

Washington, May 3.—Former Representative McCullough of Ohio was appointed by Attorney-General Daugherty today as special assistant in charge of cantonment contract fraud investigations. Of the special appropriation of $500,000 requested today $75,000 is set apart especially for the cantonment contract probe.

CROKER FUNERAL TO BE HELD TOMORROW

Dublin, May 3 (By the Associated Press).—The funeral of Richard Croker, who died Saturday, will be held at 10:30 a. m. tomorrow at Glencairn Castle. Requiem mass will be sung at 9 o'clock in the private oratory at Glencairn, and the burial in the vault on the Glencairn grounds will follow. Messages of condolence poured in today. $100,000 GEMS STOLEN FROM WOMAN

New York, May 3.—Jewels valued at $100,000, including a ring set with the largest emerald in this country, have been stolen here from Mrs. Mitchell Harrison, wife of a millionaire sugar refiner of Philadelphia.

The theft occurred while Mrs. Harrison turned to help her daughter on with her coat in the Pullman in which they were arriving from Philadelphia.

STANDING OR WALKING

—there is no escape

Everywhere the same unyielding hardness underfoot! Just standing is a strain—every step is a jolt. Never was the need of a heel that gives real protection as great as it is today.

The price of O'Sullivan's Safety Cushion Heels to you is generally the same as the price of ordinary heels, in spite of the fact that they cost the repairman more.

The repairman has two reasons for accepting this smaller profit—first, because O'Sullivan's always make satisfied customers; second, because the good will of these customers builds bigger business for him.

Ask for O'Sullivan's when you leave your shoes—see that they are attached.

Says Since a University Professor Has Been Accused of Kissing His Pupils, Old Maids Are Flocking to College

A Western college professor has been ordered by court to stop kissing his girl pupils. For what reason does the judge think professors work for such small wages.

You can learn a lot at correspondence school, but you can remember it better if you get it direct from the teacher's lips.

Of course this professor was doing at school what should have been his home work.

One or two of the pupils complained. They were probably a couple of girls that he overlooked.

But in a big college it isn't his fault if he missed a few.

Still, another girl objected to being kissed by a professor. Maybe she was holding out for the dean.

The professor claimed that the girls were using rouge on their lips and he was collecting the evidence.

He was even kissing some of the spinsters in the college, and every one of the old maids wrote to the judge and told him to mind his own business.

They told the judge that they knew what they were going to college for.

The college has a faculty for teaching, but the professor has a faculty for kissing.

One of the pupils complained that the professor kissed her against her will. He shouldn't have done it. Everybody knows that the forehead is no place to kiss a girl.

The president of the university didn't object to the teacher's actions, but the publicity he was getting was crowding the college.

Spinsters who have never thought about education are beginning to enroll.

The campus is getting to look like the front yard of the Old Ladies' Home.

He doesn't mind kissing the old maids, but he does wish they had come to him fifteen or twenty years sooner.

This teacher is a professor of English, but he can kiss his pupils in any language.

The tuition in this university is three hundred dollars, but all the professor charged them was fifty smacks.

According to the court, the professor is doing wrong, but most of the pupils are going back for a post-graduate course.

6,000 HOMELESS IN RISING FLOODS

New Orleans, May 3.—Threatening conditions in the flooded area of the Atchafalaya river section, where 6,000 persons have been made homeless, were receiving the attention today of Red Cross officials.

The volume of water is being argumented by the flood waters coming through Avoyelles Parish from the break in the levee near Ferriday, La., and the pressure is said to be threatening the levees at a number of points in the lower basin of the river, especially at Melville.

LYNN STITCHERS TO VOTE ON MAYOR'S PLAN

Twenty-five hundred women members of Local No. 57, Stitchers' Union, jammed a theatre at Lynn today in an effort to reach a vote on the acceptance of the plan of Mayor McPhetres to have labor difficulties adjusted by a board. Following a spirited debate, during which several addresses were delivered, it was voted to leave final action to a vote of the full membership of the local, numbering 3,700 women.

HENRY WOOD SONS CO. RECEIVER FILES SUIT

Clarence A. Barnes, receiver in bankruptcy of the Henry Wood Sons Co., has brought a bill in equity in the Supreme Court against Mazie G. Ulmer of Brookline, John G. McHardy of Brookline and Forest F. Collier of Billerica, directors of that company. He seeks to have them held liable for debts of the company for the benefit of its creditors. The suit is based on an alleged false certificate of conditions of the company.

COX SIGNS BILL FOR WOMEN TO HOLD OFFICE

The women of Massachusetts are eligible to hold any office, elective or appointive, within the gift of the State and the counties under the terms of a bill signed today by Governor Cox.

As they were already eligible to city appointments, the new law throws open the last doors that were shut against them.

Provision is made that State department heads may make requisition for male officers and employes for positions which require special qualification as to sex, and that the Civil Service Commission may also make the same distinction.

The bill will become effective in ninety days.

2 Policemen Dying in Montreal Strike Battle

By International News Service.

Montreal, May 3.—A battle in which two policemen are dying and hundreds of shots were fired was fought between 500 striking longshoremen and a heavy force of constabulary on the harbor front early today.

The strikers began the fray by attacking the police. After the police were reinforced by reserves, the strikers broke and fled. Their casualties are not known.

RENT LAWS ARE EXTENDED TO JULY, 1923

All the anti-rent hog laws on the statute books, including those passed by the Legislature as a result of the Boston American's campaign to protect helpless tenants from unscrupulous landlords, are extended to July, 1923, by an act signed by Governor Cox today.

The laws would have expired next February, but as the Legislature rarely gets down to solid work before March or April, the laws were extended to July in order that ample time would be afforded to deal with the situation as it exists next Spring.

Among the laws extended were those to allow the tenants to fight against unjust eviction, to prevent discrimination against families with children and to require landlords to provide reasonable heat.

Manager of Theatre Where 10 Died Is Given Year

By International News Service.

New Haven, Ct., May 3.—Lawrence W. Carroll, manager of the Rialto Theatre in this city, which was burned November 27 last, with the loss of ten lives, in the Superior Court today was found guilty of manslaughter.

Carroll was sentenced to one year in jail and to pay a fine of $1,000. He was released on a bond of $2,500, pending appeal.

INQUEST HELD IN BREWSTER MURDER

An inquest into the mysterious death of Station Agent Ralph W. Brewster of Winchester was held today before Judge John G. Maguire in Woburn District Court. District Attorney Endicott P. Saltonstall was in charge of the presentation of evidence.

Twenty-five witnesses were questioned, among them being Mrs. Ruthena Brewster, the slain man's wife, Mrs. Bertha Robinson, Mrs. Brewster's mother, Dr. and Mrs. Rolla B. Sargent, with whom he lived, and Edward and John McKenzie, and Frank Rowe.

A former Pittsfield, N. H., man has been definitely connected with the murder by recent discoveries, police today stated.

This man's photo has been positively identified as that of the stranger suspected of the crime who was bowling in the Winchester alleys on the night the murder was committed.

POLICE ON TRAIL.

The identification which was obtained throuugh William Carey, assistant to the manager of the bowling alleys has been turned over to the police, who are now trailing this man in the South.

He was a personal friend of Brewster, the murdered man. He is also well-known in Pittsfield, where Brewster resided for six years before coming to Winchester.

HEADED FOR PITTSFIELD, N. H.

After bowling nine strings the stranger went out and returned with a Boston & Maine time table. While perusing it, Carey looked over his shoulder and saw it was opened at the table for Pittsfield, N. H., and Boston. Patrons of the alley observed that the stranger kept biting his lip and appeared nervous. He left shortly after 9 o'clock. The alleys are within a few hundred feet of the station where Brewster's body was found at 10:20 lifeless with two bullets in it.

LARKIN REFUSES BAIL; SEES "DISCRIMINATION"

New York, May 3.—James Larkin, labor agitator serving a five to ten-year sentence for criminal anarchy, refused an opportunity to gain liberty under $15,000 bail today, pending appeal. He held he had been "discriminated against" in a message he sent to Supreme Court Justice Cardozo to say he would not accept liberty. Other radicals convicted of criminal anarchy had been admitted to $5,000 and $7,500 bail.

R. I. Dry Law Is Signed

Providence, May 3.—Governor San Souci of Rhode Island today signed the prohibition enforcement bill. He issued no statement.

FIND $107,000 STRAW NOTES IN HANOVER

Notes valued at $107,000 were "straws" and worthless and their executors irresponsible, Judge John G. Brackett, master, appointed to investigate savings and commercial deposits of the closed Hanover Trust Company, reported today.

He was appointed by Supreme Court Judge DeCourcy, acting on the petition of Bank Commissioner Joseph C. Allen for permission to transfer certain promissory notes appearing as assets in the savings department to the commercial department of that bank, in exchange for a transfer of $320,000 in cash from the commercial to the savings department; to establish the Christmas Club as a liability of the savings department, and to transfer $188,201.60 cash standing to the credit of the Christmas Club in the commercial to the savings department.

Judge Brackett reports that on August 11, 1920, when the Bank Commissioner took possession of the Hanover Trust Company, the savings department had notes to the amount of $190,786.89 which had been transferred from the commercial department.

There were in the savings department notes aggregating $140,676.85 which had been transferred from the commercial department and renewed in the savings department. The purchase of none of these notes had been approved by the investment committee as required by law. There were in the savings department certain notes aggregating $73,000 which had their inception in the savings department and which had been transferred to the commercial department and back again. The total amount due on these notes is $406,463.23.

Judge Brackett reports there is on deposit in the commercial department $175,000 credited to the Christmas Club.

M. J. Splaine, D. D., chaplain of the council, will be tendered a reception by the members on that occasion.

BETTY ALDEN'S COMMENT ON BOSTON SOCIETY

Younger Set Agog Over Dance for Miss Fletcher

By BETTY ALDEN

AT 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon a representative group of society folk will make their way to Mrs. Arthur Rotch's home at No. 197 Commonwealth avenue for the last of a series of lectures. The proceeds are being used to found a scholarship fund in an American college for a young woman of the negro race or one from the Near or Far East.

The speaker will be Taraknoth Das, M. A., who has chosen for his subject, "The Past and Future of India." The topics discussed at the two previous meetings were "The Past and Future of the Negro," and "The Past and Future of Japan."

Mrs. J. Mott Hallowell, who has done such splendid work for the Calhoun School, is a prominent member of the patroness list, which includes a host of distinguished names. Among the matrons under whose patronage the lectures are being given are Mesdames Roland M. Baker, John W. Bartol, Theodore G. Bremer, Lawrence G. Brooks, Robert De Normandie, William Ellery, Marshal Fabyan, Everett O. Fisk, Eliot Hubbard, Henry P. King, Arthur H. Morse, Robert Treat Paine, 2d, Arthur G. Rotch, Malcolm Seymour, J. M. Hunnewell, Robert Gould Shaw, 2d, Thomas Sherwin, Arthur M. Shurtleff, Frederick Thayer, Alden A. Thorndike, George W. Wheelwright, Jr., as well as the Misses Lucy Davis, Ellen F. Mason and Edith M. Williams.

At the close of the lectures a printed card will be distributed, so that those sufficiently interested in the proposed scholarship may sign the card, which will be turned over to Mrs. Alice L. W. Movius, who is acting as treasurer for the lecture course.

TO turn for a moment from the more serious things of life to the more frivolous, not a few members of the younger set are thrilled over the dance which Mr. and Mrs. Frederick C. Fletcher are giving tonight in honor of their debutante daughter, Miss Nina Jarvis Fletcher.

Preceding the dance, which takes place at the Country Club, Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher are giving a dinner for the young men who are to serve as ushers, as well as for a number of girls who are more intimate friends of Miss Fletcher.

The group of ushers includes Arthur Champlin, Robert Cushman, Oliver La Farge, Frederick Flather, Gordon Hartley, Lurngston Hartley, John B. Lewis, Elliott Whitney, Edward Rose, Bertram K. Little and John Newell, Jr.

Already has the last important ball of the season come and gone, and even smaller private dances like the one tonight are rather scarce these days. A goodly portion of the younger set has dispersed to the four winds for a bit of rest and an attempt to recover from the very hectic round of post-lenten festivities.

And the post-lenten period certainly came to a close with a triumphant flourish, with the smart supper dance early last week in aid of the disabled World War veterans, and the large charity costume ball which drew an equally fashionable throng to the Copley-Plaza later in the week as important landmarks, to say nothing of the clever shows presented by the Vincent and Hasty Pudding clubs.

AMONG the Boston contingent visiting about this wek are Dr. and Mrs. Charles Allen Porter of Beacon street and their daughter, Miss Peggy Porter, who are the house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lars Anderson at their mansion in Washington.

Peggy Porter, who was certainly one of the most widely-feted buds of the season, is to be the guest of honor at a dinner which the Andersons are giving for her tomorrow night. On Monday evening Mme. Hauge entertained at dinner for her niece Miss Louise Ross Tood, in compliment to Peggy Porter. The latter, by the way, took part in the very clever "Pollywog Drill," one of the best numbers of "Now and Then," the Vincent Club show.

Apropos of the Lars Andersons, who usually spend a large slice of the year at the "Weld," their Brookline estate, Mr. and Mrs. Anderson have entertained quite a few Bostonians during the past season at their Washington residence. Only recently they had as their guests Mr. and Mrs. Basil King, for whom they gave a number of entertainments.

Random Notes of Society Folk in Town and Country

MR. AND MRS. HENRY ADAMS MORSS and Miss Elanor A. Jones, the latter of Bay State road, are among the recent arrivals from Boston at Hot Springs, Va., from which resort Mr. and Mrs. Francis H. Appleton, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. S. Dacre Bush, all of Boston, are returning North to their homes.

Mrs. Edward A. Clark is visiting for a few days in New York, where she is stopping at the Hotel Ambassador.

Mrs. Grafton Minot (Constance Gardner) is planning to close her Washington home on H street the latter part of the month, when she will go to her Summer place, "The Alhambra," at Pride's Crossing. Mrs. Minot, who is the granddaughter of Senator Lodge, has taken a prominent part in the social activities of the capital during the past season.

Miss Dorothy Blodgett, who is of the Boston colony at Hot Springs, is said to be showing up very well at tennis during her sojourn at the Southern resort. On Sunday evening Miss Blodgett and her parents, the Edward Everett Blodgetts, were among the dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Williams of New York, who entertained at their cottage.

Charles H. Taylor of Berkeley street and Robert Winsor of Weston are among the Bostonians registered at the Ritz-Carlton in New York.

The Alexander Hamilton Rices have already begun preparations on their magnificent Newport estate, "Mirimar," which they plan to occupy early in the season.

Among Bostonians traveling abroad are Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Whiteside of Beacon street, who are at present in Rome.

Mrs. Wirt Dexter of Commonwealth avenue will shortly go over to New York for the house party which her daughter, Mrs. Stanley McCormick, is giving in honor of Lady Astor. Mrs. George Richmond Fearing, Jr., of Beacon street, is also going over for the same occasion.

LIEUT FLAHERTY POST TO LAUNCH CAMPAIGN

The Lieutenant Lawrence J. Flaherty Post, American Legion, will hold a mass meeting in the East Boston High School on Marion street, tomorrow at 8 p. m. Colonel John F. J. Herbert, liaison officer of the American Legion at the U. S. Veterans' Bureau, will be the principal speaker. Other speakers will be Senior Vice-Commander William F. Doyle of the State department, American Legion, and Dr. Arthur E. Brides, district supervisor of the United States Veterans' Bureau at Boston. This meeting, arranged by Commander Matthew J. Boyle of the Flaherty Post, is in the interests of a membership campaign.

CAVAN ASSOCIATION MAY PARTY TONIGHT

The annual May party of the Cavan Association will be held tonight in Paine Memorial Hall. An elaborate musical program, under the direction of Joseph O'Leary, has been arranged. Other details have been handled largely by a women's committee working under the direction of Miss Margaret Cullen.

JAMAICA PLAIN K. C. TO GIVE ANNUAL SHOW

"Good Morning Knight" is the title of the annual show of the Jamaica Plain Council, No. 120, Knights of Columbus, to be given on May 8 and 9. Performances will be in St. Thomas School Hall, Woodman street, Jamaica Plain. There will be a Sunday afternoon performance for children.

CURLEY FIGHTS CIVIL SERVCE COMMISSION

Mayor Curley today opened war on the Massachusetts Civil Service Commission, declaring that their failure to confirm his appointments was a deliberate attempt on their part to wreck the present administration and an outrageous assault on the principal of Home Rule.

The Mayor appointees that failed of confirmation were:

Thomas J. Ball, as Budget Commissioner.

Thomas C. Dolan, Schoolhouse Commissioner.

Maurice Maney, Building Commissioner.

J. J. Crotty, board of appeals, Building Department.

Henry Leonard, board of examiners, Building Department.

The Mayor charges the commission by failure to confirm is holding up more than $8,000,000 worth of building plans. He says he will file a bill in the Legislature to amend the city charter, doing away with the power of confirmation by the commission.

The Mayor said today:

ASKS FAIR TREATMENT.

"It is not unreasonable to suppose that, flushed with victory resulting from action of this commission, the legislative committtee on street railways may report the metropolitan transit bill to transfer from the city the custody of a municipal investment of $38,000,000 of subways and tunnels to a commission of men appointed by the Governor whose only qualification will be ability to deliver Republican votes election day.

"I believe personally that it is about time for the Governor to recognize that the capital city of the Commonwealth is entitled to fair treatment.

"Maurice Maney, who was turned down, has been a competent builder all of his life. They hold his name for thirty days. They call him in and examine him for five minutes and then refuse to confirm him. It is impeding work in the building department where there are thousands of plans awaiting approval.

BETTER QUALIFIED.

"For four years Thomas J. Ball was connected with budget work for the Finance Commission and ten years was assistant purchasing agent for the United States Shoe Machinery Company. In the opinion of Acting Budget Commissioner Rupert S. Carven he was better qualified to fill the post of budget commissioner than any man whose name was suggested. Yet they hold him up thirty days.

"Thomas C. Dolan has been a builder for over thirty years. He has built schoolhouse, church and dwelling house in every part of New England. He has supervised construction. They turn him down after waiting thirty [illegible] because he is not qualified [illegible] experience or training.

"J. J. Crotty for over twelve years has been connected with building construction and sanitation and has been recognized as an authority.

"The board of appeal position for which Henry Leonard was named was one that business judgment and tact should be used instead of practical experience. Mr. Leonard was superintendent of a large business house for many years. Yet they turned them all down.

ATTACK ON HOME RULE.

"In my opinion, the action of the civil service commission is an outrageous assault on the principles of home rule and it resembles a deliberate attempt to wreck the present administration of Boston.

"The Mayor of Boston has been elected by the people to take charge of the business affairs of the city, yet so long as this provision remains in the city charter giving the civil service autocratic power to vise appointments he will not be permitted to select the men whom he regards as best qualified to conduct the city's business."

Prison for Bankers Who Make False Returns Here

The first important bill passed by the Legislature to prevent a return to the old conditions which caused the wrecking of the five Boston trust companies was signed by Governor Cox today.

The bill places a fine of $1,000 and one year's imprisonment upon any bank official who fails to report the condition of the bank at regular intervals to the bank commissioner.

A similar penalty is imposed upon the bank officials who make a false return.

2 WOMEN HURT AS AUTO HITS WESTON TREE

Mrs. Alice Edleston of North Brookfield and Mrs. John Watson of Worcester were seriously injured today when an automobile in which they and three other persons were riding crashed into a tree on Newton street, Weston.

Several of Mrs. Edleston's ribs were broken. Mrs. Watson suffered shock and contusions. They were removed to the Newton Hospital.

Mrs. Edleston was driving the car. Besides the two women injured, the occupants were Mrs. Edleston's husband, Mrs. Charles Francis and Mrs. George Bruce of Worcester.

ACADEMY A. A. HOLDS MAY PARTY TONIGHT

The annual May party and ball of the Academy A. A. will be held in Intercolonial Hall, Roxbury, tonight, with a galaxy of vaudeville stars in the concert program.

A full jazz orchestra will furnish music. The committee includes: Russell Haley, chairman; Frank Lutz, Thomas Kilroy, Russell Hogan, Joseph Hohman, Edward Nestor, Herbert Connors, Vincent McDermott, Frank McCarthy, Francis Countie and Fred Gately.

PROF. SKINNER TO LECTURE ON INDIA

Professor Clarence R. Skinner of Tufts University will discuss India's contribution to the culture of the world at a mass meeting under the auspices of the Friends of Freedom for India at English High School, Montgomery street, tonight. Professor Skinner has made an intensive study of Hindu art and literature, and is acccorded international recognition as an authority on the subject.

Hon. Wendell Phillips Thore, the father of the old-age pension act, will speak on the significance of the Indian movement in world politics. Organized labor will be represented by Max Hamlin, who is prominent in local labor circles. Taraknath Das, international secretary of the Friends of Freedom of India, will analyze present conditions in India.

Next Sunday evening Edward P. Barry will be the principal speaker at a mass meeting in Kelly's Auditorium, Bunker Hill street, Charlestown. Professor Taraknath Das, Luke E. Shields, director of employment for the city of Boston, and J. P. Arlikatti of Bombay will also speak.

BONUS CALL OF MILLION HEARD AT CAPITOL

"You Did Your Duty; America's Heart Will Do Its Duty," McCumber Tells the Vets

By J. E. WATSON.

Washington, May 3.—This message was sent broadcast to World War veterans throughout the United States by Senator McCumber of North Dakota, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee in charge of bonus legislation:

"You did not forget your country in time of need. You performed your duty, and the American heart is true, and it is going to perform its duty in showing you its appreciation."

McCumber's words rang out from the main steps of the National Capitol over a plaze crowded witn veterans and spectators gathered to see the formal presentation to Congress of the million-name soldiers' bonus petition collected through the Boston American and other Hearst newspapers.

The North Dakotan's sentiments were echoed by influential members of both houses of Congress assembled for this historic event.

CHEERS FOR JOHNSON.

Senator Johnson of California, chairman of the Senate Reception Committtee, was cheered tremendously as he gave praise to the veterans, and pledged support for the bonus.

In the midst of the cheering Andrew Furuseth, head of the Seaman's Union, stepped from the crowd and said:

"There is one gentleman you are overlooking. I suggest three cheers for William Randolph Hearst the man who was responsible for this petition and for the campaign to have the soldier bonus financed by a sales tax."

The cheers for Hearst were given lustily.

PETITION SETS RECORD.

Representative Volk of New York, chairman of the National Bonus Drive Committee, met a hearty reception. At his right, a broad smile on his face, was "Uncle Joe" Fordney, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, charged with drafting bonus legislation.

Congressional history holds no parallel for the demonstration that accompanied the presentation of the bonus petition today. Not only is the petition the largest ever gathered and presented to Congress, but it is only an instalment of the accumulated demand of the American people.

Within a week or ten days the second million names will be sent to Washington.

So bulky was the testimonial that it was impossible to carry it to the floors of the two Houses. Standing eight feet tall and weighing half a ton, it required the stalwart arms of a score of ex-service men to carry it into the Capitol.

Girl Mother Gives Up to Foster Parents for Child's Good

OLIVINE GARDNER

Mother love's supreme unselfishness was illustrated again today in a case in Federal Court.

Mrs. Joseph Gardner of Henniker, N. H., was to begin a suit against Mr. and Mrs. Daniel A. Martin of Fitchburg for $5,000, the suit being based on the fact that the Martins have adopted Mrs. Gardner's seven-year-old daughter, Olivine, and refuse to give her up.

The adoption took place in 1919, while Olivine was in a charitable institution in New Hampshire, and was due to error, the child being mistakenly listed on the books of the institution as an orphan.

When the case was called today attorneys for Mrs. Gardner and her husband announced they had decided to drop the suit.

It was explained that the real mother had become convinced the foster mother was better able to care for her child and in the best interests of her baby was ready to renounce her claim.

COLORED POLICE OFFICER AGAIN IN TROUBLE

Patrolman Rudolph Trent, colored, who was accused in Roxbury Court yesterday of arresting a white woman because she objected to an insult, found himself in trouble again today in the same court when Judge Ahern refused to accept his story in an assault case.

Trent was prosecuting Chester Riggs, also colored, charging the man assaulted him on April 26. Judge Ahern said he believed Riggs' story that he was blameless and discharged him.

Mrs. Annie Russell, who yesterday accused Trent of insulting her and then arresting her on a false charge of intoxication, will be in court tomorrow and may lodge a formal complaint against the colored officer.

Mrs. Russell, who is the mother of five children, said that the policeman dragged her away from the door of her house.

She was not drunk, she said. She exhibited several bruises on her face which she said were inflicted by the officer when she hung back and tried to reason with him.

While taking her to the police box by way of the Norfolk street playgrounds, the policeman attempted to be familiar with her, she charged.

LAWRENCE RAILROAD MAN KILLED BY ENGINE

Lawrence, May 3.—George O. Abbott, sixty years old, of No. 30 Milton street, this city, employed by the Boston and Maine Railroad, died today at Lawrence General Hospital as the result of injuries received in the Andover street yard of the company, when he was struck by a road shifter.

Abbott was prominent in railroad circles throughout the State and in the Baptist Church society in this city. He is survived by his widow and one daughter.

AMHERST SENIORS FAVOR PROFESSION

Amherst, May 3.—Thirty seniors at Amherst College will go into the professions upon graduation, as contrasted with fourteen last year, according to vocational statistics for the one hundred members of the senior class announced today. This gain for the professions is mostly at the expense of business, since forty-four expect to enter business this year as contrasted with fifty-four last year.

Roxbury Mother of Five Who Accuses Negro Policeman

MRS. ANNIE C. RUSSELL

WOMAN STARTS ON WALK TO COAST

Mrs. Belle Doyer of St. Botolph street left the State House today on a walking trip which she said will land her in California. She took with her a pet cat, named after her countryman, "Tiger" Clemenceau. She also had a walking-stick, in which she will ask Mayors and Governors to cut a notch. The first cut was made by Governor Cox.

Mrs. Doyer, who is about thirty-five years old, is of slight build, wore knickers and leggings.

NEW YORK BROKERS SUED BY CREDITORS

New York, May 3.—An involuntary petition in bankruptcy was filed today in United States District Court against Raabe, Glassman & Co., foreign exchange brokers.

JEALOUSY BALKS HARDING PLAN OF EFFICIENCY

By Associated Press.

New York, May 3.—President Harding's plan for "more business in government; less government in business" is being blocked "by the petty jealousies and conceits of men in high official position," Mortimer E. Cooley, president of the American Engineering Council, asserted here today.

"The President of the United States is endeavoring to formulate a program for reorganization of Federal functions, according to precepts that govern the efficient conduct of private business," he said. "He is following principles originally adopted in the movement of technical men of the country to secure a Federal Department of Public Works.

"The President's course was easy until he began to specify changes that should take place in the government to conform to these cardinal principles. He is now encountering opposition so strong and well supported that it is feared his efforts may be defeated even as were the efforts of former Presidents Roosevelt and Taft along the same line. The President is therefore in need of the friendly assistance of those who have no prejudices, no self-seeking and who have no special purposes to serve."

BALDWIN HARVESTER LOANS ARE REPAID

Washington, May 3.—Repayment of an advance of $5,000,000 obtained in January, 1920, by the Baldwin Locomotive Works and of an advance of $4,000,000 made to the International Harvester Company, Chicago, in 1920, was announced today by the War Finance Corporation.

What Your Dreams Mean

MONEY IN YOUR DREAMS
Send Them in And Get a Dollar

Do you dream the same thing over and over again? Then find out what it means, for dreams which occur often are sure to have an important hidden meaning. The Dream Editor will be glad to interpret your dreams for you and will pay one dollar each day for the most interesting letter received. Address letters to "Dream Editor, Boston American 80 Summer street, Boston."

WINNING LETTER TODAY.

Dream Editor:—

I dreamed I saw lilies growing; also that I lost my ring off my hand.

Lowell. MAE E. B.

Lilies signify happy innocense, Mae, and the loss of your ring predicts profit from an unexpected source.

OTHER INTERESTING LETTERS.

Dream Editor:—

I dreamed that I was at a table with some people who were quarreling, and that afterwards we all ate crackers and red apples.

C. M. N.

Attanaugan, Conn.

This dream fortells a pleasant friendship shortly to be renewed.

Dream Editor:—

I dreamed I received a tip on the races to be held at Lexington and Pimlico, the names of the horses and the numbers of the races. Does this mean that I will be lucky if I follow this advice?

Reader of the American
Hotel Buckminster

Probably you have been thinking a good deal about the races lately, and this is just a reflection of your own ideas. If not, the dream has nothing to do with a race track, but signifies that you will shortly have a wonderful opportunity to improve your fortunes.

Dream Editor:

I dreamed I went to the back yard and saw water running uphill and a lady told me that both my children had been hurt. What does this mean? Does it mean harm to them? Mrs. B. N.

Moosup, Conn.

To see water running up hill predicts comforts in matters that have been troubling one; your conversation with the woman means that you will have a change of location, or that a member of your family will move.

Dream Editor:

The other night I dreamed I was holding a guitar and one of the strings went soft. Does this mean I was unconsciously thinking of my guitar? Billie.

Boston.

To play on a guitar signifies inexpensive pleasures in store for you. Billie.

FRANCE AGAIN HINTS QUITTING GENOA PARLEY

By International News Service.

Genoa, May 3.—Louis Barthou, head of the French delegation to the economic conference, who is in Paris to consult the Cabinet, will discuss the advisability of France's withdrawal from the meeting as a result of the Russian situation, according to a report in circulation here. France and Belgium have refused to approve the allied conditions for recognition of the Moscow Soviet government.

Genoa, May 3. (By the Associated Press).—The second plenary session of the Genoa economic conference opened today. The Belgian delegations were in attendance, as the meeting will not touch upon the Russian memorandum.

Richard Washburn Child, the American Ambassador, was among the visitors.

BOSTON'S FIRST RADIO SHOW OPEN TODAY

By A. B. HOAG

With ninety exhibitors displaying the very latest in wireless appliances, Boston's first radio exposition was prepared to handle a record opening day crowd of enthusiasts this afternoon.

The various exhibits afforded an unusual opportunity to learn all the ins and outs of radio. Several booths were rigged up to "listen in" on the Amrad and Eastern Radio broadcasts and one booth was prepared to pick up the trans-Atlantic commercial code stations.

Leon W. Bishop, well known radio expert, installed a small broadcasting station in the [illegible] booth, and music and announcements were broadcasted throughout the hall, to be picked up by the different receiving sets.

All the appliances from the little crystal detector set up through the [illegible] stage [illegible] cabinets to the big trans-Atlantic sets were on exhibit, and their operation was described in [illegible] intelligible to the layman.

The rise of interest in [illegible] for the common or door [illegible] was reflected in the large number of loop antenas that were used to pick up the various broadcasting stations. The only outdoor aerial at the show is the one that is used to catch the trans-Atlantic work.

Many unique [illegible] of condensers, variometers, variocoupler and crystal detectors were displayed along with other parts. The purpose of the different appliances was explained in detail by the exhibitors.

The show is open every day and evening up to and including [illegible]. The Amrad station at Medford Hillside and the Eastern Radio Institute have arranged for special broadcasts during the afternoon and evening so that visitors will be assured of getting an opportunity to "listen in" at any time.

WILL GIVE DANCE IN HONOR OF MAE CARNEY

Former District Attorney Joseph C. Pelletier will lead the grand march at the annual dancing party to be given in honor of Miss Mae Carney, the popular entertainer of Roxbury, in Municipal Building, South Boston, tomorrow night.

Miss Carney assisted the Boston American in raising a fund for the widow and children of Patrolman Cuneo. She constantly gives her services to charitable benefits.

There will be acts from local theatres. Senator George F. Curran, stage manager of the Majestic, has arranged to send artists from that theatre. All of Miss Carney's political friends will be there.

SOUTH BOSTON FIGHTS MERRY-GO-ROUND PLEA

Tomorrow morning at the offices of the Licensing Board, at No. 1 Beacon street, there will be a public hearing on the proposed plan of conducting a merry-go-round on the Strandway, South Boston. Question Box for Radio Fans

S. E. M., Roxbury—Your diagram shows no method of tuning either primary or secondary circuits. If you adopt a single or double slide to the coil, you will be able to tune. When this is corrected you should be able to hear Medford.

The best way to find a sensitive spot on the crystal is to use a buzzer. Connect a short piece of wire two or three feet long to the vibrator part of the buzzer, wind the wire around your coil a few times, keeping [illegible] and then listen for the sound of the buzzer in the phones. [illegible]

F. G. M., Roxbury—[illegible]. A crystal will work with a loose coupler, variable condenser and phones.

R. L. M., Somerville—You have not shown [illegible] in your diagram and the condenser should not be [illegible] as you have shown it. [illegible] around the condenser and [illegible] the ground wire that runs from the condenser.

W. V., West Everett—WVO are the call letters of the Army Base at South Boston. They are doing some experimental work with Ft. Wood. Sorry it couldn't have been farther off.

W. C., Roxbury—WCD is the ship "Western State."

F. M., Pawtucket—The hookup you send is a good one. To use the parts you suggest connect one variometer to posts "1" and "P." Connect the variocoupler and the other variometer in series with each other, joining the remaining posts to "G" and "F" respectively. This will make your detector a regenerative one and should make you a very effective set on the lower wave lengths, including those of the broadcasts. You can use the detector alone by plugging your phone in on the first jack. Plugging in the second jack operates the detector and one stage of amplification and on the third jack operates detector and two stages of amplification.

L. J. F.—The concern you mention is the American Radio & Research Corporation, Medford Hillside, Mass.

"HOT BOX" CAUSE OF $50,000 MAINE FIRE

Presque Isle, Me., May 3.—The mill and lumber yard of the Portage Lumber Company and three houses were burned at Portage today. The fire originated from a hot box in the mill which employed about [illegible]. The company has not estimated the loss, but it was believed to be in excess of $50,000.

"Doping" the Harvard-Tech dual meet outcome is quite the popular occupation of the track enthusiasts of the rival Cambridge institutions this week, and so closely matched appear the teams that all sorts of results have been predicted.

It is generally agreed, however, that Harvard can win the Tech field games if all [illegible] Harvard athletes are trotted into the events and come through with performances equal to those they have scored in recent competition.

Whether all such Harvard material will be on hand remains to be seen. At least two of the Crimsonites are members of Jack Slattery's baseball [illegible] permitted [illegible] take part [illegible] Virginia star [illegible] not be the [illegible]

Harvard Can Use Jenkins to the Best Advantage

Of the two baseball men Percy Jenkins, broad jumper and second baseman, is the one Harvard could use to best advantage against the Engineers. He scored first place in that event at Annapolis and probably would prove the winner of the Tech field jump if permitted to start.

Without Jenkins, three of Bill Bingham's star performers will be required to score two firsts each if the Crimson will win, and then the Crimson margin of victory would be a small and by no means a sure one.

Because such double victories are well within the range of possibility, however, and also because Harvard may draw on its baseball track men, the Crimson will enter Saturday's meet with Tech a slight favorite.

Crimson Seems Better Fixed in Sprints and Distance Runs.

The Crimson seems a bit better fixed in sprinters; it has Billy Burke to work in the half-mile and mile runs and Billy is capable of winning both; it has Whitney and Hauers in the hurdles; Captain Fiske Brown in the hammer, shot and discus events; and it has Davis in the pole vault.

In each instance, except possibly in the furlong dash, Harvard's leading entrant holds an advantage over the best Tech can offer, and thus the Crimson seem assured of scoring the greatest number of first places.

To overcome the lead Harvard will gain in first place points Frank Kanaly's men must score very heavily in seconds and thirds, and there appears just sufficient quality among the Crimson second raters to prevent Tech from so doing.

B. C. HIGH IN GAME WITH MALDEN

By FRED C. LANE.

The second mid-week display of scholastic baseball talent is scheduled for this afternoon when twenty-two games will be contested on our local ball orchards. The recent upsets of the favored few has the lads on their toes to prevent any further backsliding.

The Boston [illegible] was the hardest hit of the high rated on Saturday. The defeat will prevent them from presenting a clean slate and it will make the lads not underrate any of their [illegible] opponents.

The boys from James street will make a gallant attempt to make redemptions for that loss and Malden High is the victim. This game will be played at the Malden Athletic Grounds and a general turnout is expected.

Coach Jack McDonald of the Malden School has built about him a peppery bunch of ball tossers who have the fighting spirit unlike any other school. They will make real opponents for the Maroon and Gold team, giving them a hard battle.

West Roxbury-Brighton Game Is the Next in Importance

Next in importance comes the West Roxbury Brighton affair. The leadership of the District High League rests on the result of this game. Brighton has a pitcher of high calibre in Bill McKerney, who is anxious to start at Coach Jim Duffy's lads.

It was McKerney [illegible] against West Roxbury last year in their annual affair and West Roxbury won hands down. He aches for the chance to pitch to the same bunch again this year to even matters for that loss.

West Roxbury has [illegible] veteran team. They have played sterling baseball to date which accounts for the landslide over South Boston High. The game will be played on the Walpole street grounds and start at 3 p. m.

AL ROBERTS TO BATTLE GREB HERE MAY 12

Al Roberts, sensational Staten Island light-heavyweight, has been matched to battle Harry Greb of Pittsburgh in the feature bout of ten rounds at a big show to be staged by the Armory A. A. at the Boston Arena on May 12.

Roberts is one of our new kayo [illegible] Greb or any of our noble fistic warriors.

The Staten Island warrior is under the management of Billy Gibson, who is predicting a bright future for his new protege. He says he is one of the most promising big fellows he ever saw in action.

"Roberts is a two-fisted fighting man," writes Gibson. "He has the old wallop, aggressiveness and courage. He's also gaining experience rapidly. He'll make Greb, Tom Gibbons and Goose Tunney look like also rans."

Roper, who showed here a couple of times, was easy for Roberts. So were Eddie Josephs, James Dowd, Jack Clifford, Charley Miller, Charley Weinert, Harry Williams, Bob Fitzsimmons and a flock of other big fellows.

The Future Greats

The Huntington letter for swimming has been awarded to the following: Captain Woods, Simpson, Algar, Chalmers, Jones, Richardson, Harper, Ford, Hyatt, Hight, Bennet and Manager Bigelow.

The Commerce track stars will take part in the New Hampshire State interscholastic meet on Saturday. Rumpf and Davies will compete in the hurdles and high jump. Rosen will run in the 220 yards dash and Hanley will take part in the quarter and half mile runs.

Catcher Smith of Allen School will be unable to continue in his position because of a broken finger. He will be missed sorely by the Allen School followers as he was one of the best hitters on the nine.

Psychology Plays Part in Conway's Winning Streak

Jack Conway's remarkable feat of picking twelve straight winners in ring and mat contests is partly explained by the weird workings of psychology, according to persons who have made a study of ouija boards and such things.

It is pointed out by the learned ones that when Jack names a boxer or wrestler to win, that the man picked is filled with new confidence, and performs 25 per cent. above his average ability. The man picked to lose, on the other hand, becomes depressed and does not display his normal ability. He feels that Conway's long winning streak is too much for him.

Will psychology decide the Calza-Hussane wrestling bout tomorrow night, and the Doyle-Shade tussle Monday evening?

Conway is busy preparing his deductions which may spell victory or defeat for a contestant.

In and Out the Cup at Longmeadow Golf Club

By F. G. THAYER

Longmeadow has a waiting list of thirty five for the first time in its history.

* * *

The dues are $25 a year, with an initiation fee of $10. Only a nominal charge for what one gets.

* * *

* * *

The tournament committee has arranged an elaborate program, calling for a weekly tournament through November 12, including the State open, the first of its kind this club has ever conducted. June 9 and 10 are the dates, play being permitted on either day.

* * *

The club is just an hour's run from Boston on the Woburn to Lowell boulevard. Sections of the course lie in both Tewksbury and Lowell.

* * *

* * *

Fred Wright holds the record of the course at 76. The best figure for the nine is 36 held jointly by a few of the best at Longmeadow.

Par for the course and bogey are the same, 36, with one long hole measuring 535 yards.

Dr. Francis Mahoney, is a prominent member. Another man who has given of his time and money unsparingly is the president, General Adelbert Ames. George Harte, the treasurer, is also one of the club's liberal public spirited members.

Dr. F. E. Morris is the only Longmeadow member who belongs to the Honorable and Ancient Hole in One Club. [illegible] initiated last year when [illegible] his mashie at the short [illegible]

Number one green has been transformed and enlarged to permit the pitched ball a chance to stick. A top will find the bunkers all about the green.

The stone wall between the first and third fairways is being removed, the cross ditch is being filled in, and a new trap will be placed to the right of the third green.

The new green at number four will not be ready for play until the opening in June. It has just been reseeded. The side hill one-shot fifth has been built up a bit at the right, and also well trapped. There are three new ones to theright of the green which inclines in its contour to the right. The tee shot will have to be well placed here if a three is to be assured.

The sixth hole over the viaduct knoll remains the same for the present, with the exception of the deepening of the trap across the green. A chip out will no longer be possible. The 440 yard [illegible] has a new trap to catch the misplaced second shot on the left of the fair way. The gulley to the right and just short of the green is to be abandoned. The green is regraded and a trap is going in.

LONDOS SAYS HUSSANE WILL DEFEAT CALZA

By JACK CONWAY

George Calza and Yussoff Hussane, who mingle in a finish mat bout at the Grand Opera House tomorrow night, have us guessing. When the match was announced, we figured Calza would win, but as the days have rolled on merrily we have been able to give the dope more careful study. And the dope is very kind to Hussane.

In the [illegible] we received a wire from Jim Londos, Greek heavyweight champion who wrestled Calza here last week. And Londos likes Hussane's chances. He says that [illegible] knows too much [illegible] of the game for the Italian champion.

"Calza is a big, powerful kid," says Londos in his wire. "He's as strong as a regiment of wrestlers, but he hasn't had enough experience to beat a man like Hussane. The latter has met them all and as the contest is to a positive finish he'll have a big advantage. I'm putting the old B. K. on Hussane."

Hussane's Experience Is Winning Him Backers

That's the way it goes. The wrestlers as a class like Hussane's chances. If it were a handicap match, they say Calza would win as he's strong enough to hold an opponent at bay for an hour or so. But they contend that as tomorrow night's affair is to be to a finish it will be a different story.

The Hussane people argue that Calza may show well for an hour or so, but that after that time Hussane's experience will enable him to forge to the front and pin his youthful rival to the mat.

The match means a great deal to Calza, for if he wins he'll get a shot at either Jim Londos or Wladek Zbyszko in a finish match.

Strong Preliminary Card to Support Feature Go

There'll be a strong preliminary card supporting Calza and Hussane. Hal Christensen, the Dane who meets Milo Steinborn, has a great record as a wrestler. He weighs 190 pounds and while wrestling mostly in the Middle West has appeared in Springfield.

Shade and Doyle Offers Another Tough One

Dave Shade and Paul Doyle, who mingle at the Arena next Monday night, is another tough one to dope. [illegible] Shade is a fast, clever boxer, while Siegal relies chiefly upon his aggressiveness and punching power to gain a victory.

A good boxer usually looks like a million dollars against a fighter. Shevlin proved this once more when he met Siegal the other night. But when you pit the classy ring man against a bird who can box equally as well you have a different story.

That's what you'll have at the Arena next Monday night. Doyle is every bit as good a boxer as Shade. Dan Morgan, manager of Jack Britton, for instance, thinks that Doyle is the best welterweight in the world with the exception of Britton.

Doyle Will Make It Hard for Shade to Score

Shade will find it hard to score with Doyle as an opponent. Paul will step around the ring with him. He'll jab and duck and do all the things that have enabled him to win so many victories over high class boxers.

[illegible] a good boxer defeated Shade in a fifteen round bout [illegible] a couple of months ago. [illegible] fans to believe that Shade does not have things so much his own way when pitted against a man who will box with him.

Anyhow we'll keep our ear to the ground and will tip you on the probable winner as soon as we get the low down on the two men. Doyle, by the way, was due to arrive in Boston today which will give us an opportunity to see him in action at Kelley and Hayes' gym.

Armory A. A. Is Back on the Pugilistic Map

It was good news to hear that Armory A. A. will be back on the pugilistic map with a big show at the Boston Arena on May 12. Matchmaker Alex McLean landed a good match when he signed Al Roberts, Staten Island light-heavyweight, to meet Harry Greb of Pittsburgh.

Mortgages House to Bet on Herman

New York, May 3. — When "Pepper" Martin crawled through the ropes to battle with "Babe" Herman there was one man among the vast throng that filled Madison Square Garden who had his own opinion as to Martin's pugilistic ability. That man was Martin's brother-in-law, Herman Weller, twenty-seven, of Brooklyn.

Weller, according to the story he told in Bellevue, after the fight was over, mortgaged his house and raised $500, all of which he bet on "Babe" Herman at odds of 2 to 1.

The fight didn't last long. Martin knocked out Herman in the first round. After leaving the Garden Weller collapsed and was taken to Bellevue.

Weller was unconscious when carried into the admittance office, and it took one of the hospital physicians several minutes to revive him.

"I don't want to stay in the hospital," said Weller. "I must go home, please don't keep me here. I've recovered from my headache."

FITTS ELIGIBLE FOR HARVARD TRACK

Roscoe Fitts, Harvard's star hurdler, will be able to compete in the remaining track meets this season. Fitts has been ineligible up to this time on account of not having the required scholastic marks.

A week ago Fitts won the Garcelon trophy at the Stadium for making the fastest time over the 220 yard low hurdles. Today he stands ready to fill the void left vacant by his absence.

Harvard having only Fiske Brown, the twenty year old hammer throwing wonder, and Billy Burke, who makes the cinders fly in the mile, as point winners, will feel better with the halfback scurrying over the barriers.

Fitts' best time to date is 25 1-5s. and it is thought at Cambridge that he will better this time at the Stadium this Spring.

DUNDEE TRAINS FOR TENDLER CONTEST

New York, May 3.—Johnny Dundee and Lew Tendler are in strict training for their 15-round bout at Madison Square Garden Friday night. The former is doing his work in an uptown gym, while Tendler is getting ready in Philadelphia. They will weigh in at 135 pounds at 2 o'clock on the afternoon of the contest.

The semi-final of twelve rounds will mark the debut of Danny Frush, the Cleveland featherweight, who will engage Tony Caponi. The six rounder will bring together Johnny Drummie of Jersey City and Johnny Darcey of New York.

JAP GOLFER CALLED HOME ON BUSINESS

Chicago, May 3.—H. Nawasaki golf champion of Japan, will be unable to compete in the American championships this Summer, as he has been called home on business, it became known today. The Japanese expert of the links, who has done much to popularize golf in the island kingdom of the Pacific, made a fine showing in the North and South tournaments at Pinehurst this Spring, and had planned to help make this year's national meets cosmopolitan by trying for the titles held by Jim Barnes and Jesse Guilford.

Before going to San Francisco to sail for home, Nawasaki plans to play a few rounds in Chicago with Chick Evans, former national open and amateur champion.

MIDDLESEX IN ANNUAL GROTON TILT TODAY

The Middlesex School nine, which last year won the private school championship of the State, will play the first of its two annual games with Groton School at Groton today. Joseph Morrill of Dedham is scheduled to twirl for Middlesex, while Chauncey is the probable Groton choice for the mound.

La Salle at Concord

The Concord High School baseball team will play its annual game with La Salle High of Waltham on the Concord Centre playground this afternoon.

BRAVES HOPE FOR BETTER LUCK ON FOREIGN BALL FIELDS

PITCHERS MUST GET GOING SOON

New York, May 3.—Fred Mitchell of Beantown's own Braves dashed madly into Gotham today for the first of their Polo Grounds series with the league-leading Giants

Those same league-leading Giants are leading the league largely because the Braves tossed to them every game of the recent Boston series, and today finds Mitch and his men rearin' to go, and go in the right direction.

J. McGraw was deeply concerned over the Boston team before the season got under way The latter appeared to have an excellent assortment of twirlers, and a much strengthened infield and outfield Without those factors last year they made considerable trouble for the McGrawites With them they seemed destined to make much more And then the Giants socked 'em for a row of goals.

Pitchers Have Been Source of Trouble

The Braves' trouble thus far this season has been the slow rounding into form of their promising twirling staff. All of the flingers have taken turns at looking good, but they haven't looked good long enough For a few innings they will baffle their opponents, but along about the fourth or fifth or sixth or seventh the old soupbone fails to respond to their earnest wishes and rivals are prompt to profit

But now having taken their play to the other fellow's back yard they just naturally plan to get going as they really should They went after today's game with all the jazz in the world and a lot of the wise ones were figuring on a Boston win before the afternoon's pastime was done.

HARVARD LACROSSE TEAM WILL PLAY TWO GAMES

The Harvard lacrosse team will invade New York State the end of this week. They will leave Cambridge tomorrow for Ithaca where they will meet Cornell on Friday. Saturday afternoon the Crimson team will play Hobart College at Geneva, N. Y.

If Harvard shows as good playing on this week-end [illegible] against the Oxford-Cambridge combination two weeks ago the Crimson should win. Although Harvard lost to the Englishmen 5 to 2 they played a team of championship calibre.

NEW GOLF CLUB MEETS APPROVAL

Chicago, May 3.—A new type of golf club shaft has been perfected in the effort to find a substitute for hickory. It is composed of a core of second growth hickory with strips of bamboo inlaid parallel with the centre, somewhat like a casting rod. It has not been tried extensively, but it is said that the combination is more stable and even than the present wooden shafts which begin to lose their native resiliency as soon as they are put in play

MAX FLAX BACK AND READY TO GO

Chicago, May 3.—Max Flack, star outfielder of the Chicago Nationals, thoroughly recovered from the effects of being "beaned" on the Spring training trip, heavily fined for deserting the team after the accident, but now perfectly satisfied, probably will make his first appearance of the season in the Cub line-up at Pittsburgh this afternoon

COBURN TRIPLE GIVES NEWTON VICTORY

Newton High defeated Waltham High, 6 to 5, in an intensely exciting game yesterday. The game was played at Waltham and was won by Newton's grit. Newton made three runs in the seventh inning and tied the score, and Coburn's three bagger in the ninth won it.

The contest was a pitchers' battle between Haney for Waltham and Whitmore for Newton. Haney [illegible] and Whitmore struck out 10. Haney allowed only six hits.

Stops Pain Instantly

The simplest way to end a corn is Blue-jay. A touch stops the pain instantly. Then the corn loosens and comes out. Made in two forms—a colorless, clear liquid (one drop does it!) and in extra thin plasters. Use whichever form you prefer, plasters or the liquid—the action is the same. Safe, gentle. Made in a world-famed laboratory. Sold by all druggists.

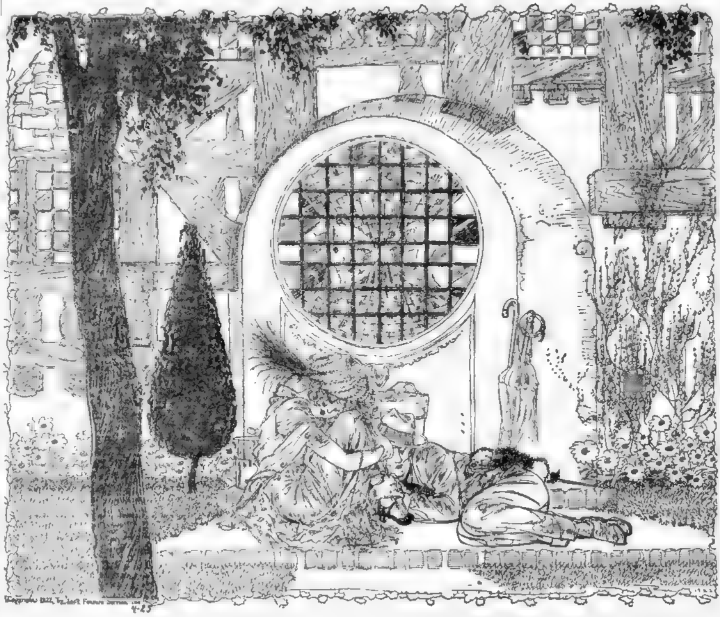
Their First Night at Home -:-

DRAWN BY NELL BRINKLEY



IF it had been an old house and they had had a chance to live in it, they would have broken a pane in the pantry or the cellar. But Alec and Alicia, the "alloys," they could not bring themselves to crack any bright new diamond pane with the crook of his stick or the heel of her sandal!

Everything—all the nice old junk, and that of it which was new, only they didn't know it, and the dealer didn't tell 'em, all their pretty furniture was in. They had been there to see it carted in, to save it from collision with newel-posts and door-casings. Some of it they had joyously put right where it would look best. Then Alicia and Alec called it a day and rode their little new roadster to the nearest village for "just a [illegible] the hole in the wall." For there was not even a sleek sardine or a rough pickle in the house that was so very new.

And before they ran away for just an hour or two they went all over the little new house, that sounded and smelled so new, that echoed the rustle of Alicia's frock and the rubber-eased tread of Alec and was [illegible] with the intoxicating fragrance of new wood and paint, and they locked it up tight as the [illegible] of a drum!

And when they came HOME they found the little wee housie impervious to attack. Dark and quiet and a duck of a house, but impregnable, resisting their stealthy assaults. They prowled and whispered. They tried all the doors they knew they had locked. They tried the windows latches with Alec's knife, but it wasn't long enough. Alec wished for a kitchen knife. Alec boosted Alicia to the pantry window. It was dark and firm. The neighbors were strangers—far apart—some with signs on their great gates that said "Private Grounds," and just now Alec and Alicia felt like porch-climbers.

So they and Mack, the dog, curled up in their Summer clothes on their own new front steps along with two hat boxes and a cane and an umbrella. And before they slept—along with other impressive remarks that Alec made—he wondered why they were possessed to leave hat boxes, a stick and an umbrella in the car to be brought into the house last? "Why didn't we leave the big trunk on the porch? It had a blanket in it—the new one—the blue one. You know?" And Alicia knew.

Daily Short Story

McDAY'S PENANCE

By Marie Augustine-Smith

PATROLMAN McDAY walked his beat in silence, his head bowed in thought. Once he was the life of the force, but that was six long months before—before, as he told himself, he had failed in his duty.

It had happened on a chilly day in late November. Approaching the bridge he had spied her; a light red tam, a heavy sweater, sitting with her feet dangling above the stagnant waters and facing the sunset.

It was a gorgeous sunset—yes, he could remember that. He had not closely noticed the girl, perhaps because of that very sunset. Students frequented the park, so her presence was not remarkable. He vaguely remembered that she did not move when he passed, and to think, within three feet of her!

It seemed strange that he had not made sure of that girl's intentions. Strange indeed, when his entire duty was protection of life. In a man who had encountered desperation as frequently as he had the omission was unpardonable.

A splash, quite imaginary, resounded in his ears. Big, strong McDay shuddered as though a sudden chill had cut to his very marrow. He had been 200 feet distant, on his return beat, when startled by that splash, which was accompanied by a faint scream. He had hastened to the bridge from where his strong flashlight, playing on the stagnant, green scum, revealed a telltale broken surface directly beneath the spot where the girl had been sitting.

That she did not rise to the surface was not surprising, since the stream's treachery lay in its deep bed of quicksand. The conclusion was inevitable.

Patrolman McDay squared his shoulders resolutely. On the morning following three girls were reported missing, and one of the three when last seen had worn a telltale red tam. He wondered yet why he had not made a clean breast of it to his chief; pride in his work, coupled with a knowledge of the futility of battling with quicksand were his only reasons.

Quick, feminine steps roused him from further retrospection. His eyes, still hazy with past visions, encountered those shining above the full, rosy cheeks of a vigorous young girl who dimpled under his gaze as she addressed her companion.

"This is the very spot where I lost them—box, paints and that wonderful little water-color. The sunset had been gorgeous, too. You see, I sat here longer than I realized, and when I heard footsteps in the distance I simply dropped everything and ran!" The speaker wore a bright red tam.

Patrolman McDay hastily resumed his beat.

ADVICE TO LOVELORN

—By Beatrice Fairfax—

Going Half Way

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX,

My sweetheart is very stubborn. I am broad-minded, otherwise there would often be a clash. My mother does not approve of him. He tells me how much he loves me, but if I wanted to give him up for someone else he would say nothing. He believes the girl should always go half way. Is he wrong in his opinion?

P. L. P.

WHY shouldn't the girl go half way? The sweeter and more considerate you are, the more ashamed your sweetheart will be of his stubbornness. If he is selfish and exacting, you must either accept that as part of him and deal with it generously—or there isn't a chance for you to be happy together.

SAGE TEA DANDY TO DARKEN HAIR

It's Grandmother's Recipe of Sage and Sulphur to Bring Back Color to Hair

You can turn gray, faded hair beautifully dark and lustrous almost over night if you'll get a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" at any drug store. Millions of bottles of this old famous Sage Tea Recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, are sold annually, says a well-known druggist here, because it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that no one can tell it has been applied.

Those whose hair is turning gray or becoming faded have a surprise awaiting them, because after one or two applications the gray hair vanishes and your locks become luxuriantly dark and beautiful.

This is the age of youth. Gray-haired, unattractive folks aren't wanted around, so get busy with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound tonight and you'll be delighted with your dark, handsome hair and your youthful appearance within a few days.

DYE FADED WRAP SKIRT, DRESS IN "DIAMOND DYES"

Each package of "Diamond Dyes" contains directions so simple any woman can dye or tint her old, worn, faded things new. Even if she has never dyed before, she can put a rich, fadeless color into shabby skirts, dresses, waists, coats, stockings, sweaters, coverings, draperies, hangings, everything. Buy Diamond Dyes—no other kind—then perfect home dyeing is guaranteed. Just tell your druggist whether the material you wish to dye is wool or silk, or whether it is linen, cotton or mixed goods. Diamond Dyes never streak, spot, fade, or run.—Advertisement.

RICH GIRL, POOR GIRL

AN ABSORBING SERIAL OF LIFE IN CITY

By Virginia Terhune Van de Water

Copyright, 1922, Star Co.

"I would love it!" the invalid said eagerly. "I did not know you were a musician."

"I am not. But I do know a few simple songs. Are you familiar with 'Mighty Like a Rose'? And do you like it?"

"Yes. Patty used to sing it quite often. She does not care much about music, but she had a fancy to take lessons from a good teacher for a while. I enjoyed hearing the dear child sing, but she got tired of it after a while, and now she does not sing for me any more. I am glad you don't mind doing it."

The girl felt as if she were in a horrible dream. She was sure that there had never been a more gruesome position than that in which she now found herself. Here she was singing to a desperately ill woman a song she had loved to hear her daughter sing while, in the room below, the service for the dead was being said over that daughter's lifeless form. Could anything be worse?

A Difficult Ordeal.

The song ended. Mrs. Hollingshead thanked Adelaide for it and asked for another.

Below stairs there was once more the sound of people moving. As plainly as if she had been there, the girl saw it all. The services were over. The men were about to carry the coffin from the house.

"What shall I sing?" she asked hoarsely.

"You choose some song you like," Mrs. Hollingshead replied.

It must be something that could be sung loudly. All at once Adelaide remembered the night on which she had first seen Patricia Hollingshead. She had been singing Tosti's "Good-bye."

Without further hesitation, she began this now.

"'Falling leaf and fading tree'"

Her voice almost broke. Then she steadied her nerves and sang more loudly. It had been at this part of the song that she had almost failed on that night weeks ago at [illegible]. Then she had [illegible] singing of her [illegible] seen the flashing smile of encouragement. That was what had kept her—the poor little singer—from breaking down. The remembrance must keep her from breaking down now.

As she reached the last verse the [illegible] at the curb were beginning to move. The [illegible] of the engines was raucous. But the [illegible] did not heed them. She must not hear them!

Louder still sang the little attendant, her voice once more soaring perilously among the high notes.

"Good-bye forever!" she wailed. "Good-bye! Good-bye!"

Miss Johnson had been standing by the window. As the last note of music died away she turned toward the room. "They are gone!" she motioned with her lips.

Silence had once more settled on the house. Downstairs servants moved about cautiously, rearranging chairs, etc. Smiling, Mrs. Hollingshead fell into a light sleep.

Softly the little singer crept off to her room and locked the door. Then she threw herself face downward on the bed and burst into tears.

Can't Deceive All

"You can't deceive any of the people all the time," Richard Hollingshead paraphrased grimly.

It was the Thursday after Patricia Hollingshead's funeral. Mr. Hollingshead had gone to the office this morning, but had returned at noon. Now he and his son and Adelaide Brown were at luncheon. Richard had breakfasted in his room, but had declared himself well enough to limp downstairs later in the day.

"Which means—what?" the father queried in reply to the quotation.

"Which means," the son explained, "that mother is getting restless about—about—"

He hesitated. His father winced. "I know what you would say," he interrupted brusquely. "We can not fool her much longer."

"No—we can not. I went in there to see her just now, after you"—to Adelaide—"had started downstairs. She asked me several questions that I found it hard to answer. Of course I had to lie to her. One must," he added practically.

"We will talk the matter over after a while," Henry Hollingshead said.

RIGHT KIND OF PRIDE

—By Loretto C. Lynch—

"WHY didn't you ask the folks next door to give you a hand during John's sickness?" inquired the solicitous relative summoned from the country to help the bride of a year.

"Well, the woman next door used to be very nice to me—but, I don't know—lately she's gotten kind of proud," replied Jane. But—Jane did not tell the half of it.

When Jane came to the small apartment to begin her wedded life her next door neighbor had been more than kind. In fact neighbor Mary had helped to set the little home to rights. But sooner or later the home-maker Mary discovered that Jane had NO pride. It did not occur to Jane evidently that the job of being a home-maker is not only a serious business, but one in which there should be righteous pride.

If the home was swept once in two weeks—in the meantime Jane did not see the dirt. She had no scruples in borrowing a sheet from Mary when her own scant supply ran out. Nor had she the least scruples about displaying to Mary the chiffon hose she had just purchased for three times the price of a bed sheet.

Mary always had a couple of cans of milk and a can or two of vegetables and fruit and soup and fish on the emergency shelf of her tiny pantry. And when Jane had unexpected company or when the weather was inclement or Jane was indisposed, without the least scruples she called upon her neighbor Jane's emergency shelf and she sometimes forgot to return what she borrowed.

There are two kinds of pride and one kind is righteous pride. Mary had righteous pride. Jane's pride was false.

How to Make Rhubarb Jam

Delicious and Healthful

By Ann Proctor

Rhubarb jam made according to the following recipe is one of the most delicious things you have ever tasted. Children and "grown ups" go wild over it and it is so good for them.

To make eleven 6-ounce glasses of rhubarb jam:

Cut the rhubarb into short lengths, without peeling, and shred by putting through grinder or chopping very fine. Put 4 leveled cups (2 lbs.) of shredded rhubarb and its juice and 8 leveled cups (4½ lbs.) of sugar into a preserving kettle, mix well and bring to a vigorous boil stirring constantly, and let boil 3 minutes. Remove from fire and add 1 bottle (scant cup) Certo while stirring. Let stand one minute, skim and pour into glasses. Certo, the pure, concentrated jelly-making principle of fruit, contains no gelatine or preservative and is obtainable at all grocers and druggists. If your grocer or druggist is out of stock, he can get it quickly for you from his jobber.

The above recipe and 100 others for making delicious jellies and jams by the "Certo Process" is found in the Certo Book of Recipes, a copy of which comes with every bottle of Certo. Extra copies will be sent free if you write to the Pectin Sales Company, Inc., 106 East Avenue, Rochester, N. Y.

Important: Use Certo this year in making all your jams and jellies. They will keep splendidly. Certo always saves time, worry and boiling. The Certo Process never fails, and is econmical because you make half as much more jam from the same amount of fruit.

If your grocer or druggist does not have Certo, please call Miss Dwyer, Fort Hill 1914 to learn where to obtain it.

FINANCE —AND— BUSINESS

—By B. C. Forbes—

Progress means growth. Growth is the keynote of modern business enterprise.

Whether we like it or dislike it, it is becoming increasingly clear that we are entering a period of numerous and gigantic business mergers.

* * *

Clarence Dillon, head of an extraordinary energetic and successful financial house in New York, a youngish man who is rapidly coming to be recognized as a Napoleon of finance, yesterday confided that he has already taken active steps looking towards the acquisition and combining of several steel companies. It looks, therefore, as if the steel industry is to participate in the new merger era, even though it is not yet absolutely certain that any colossal steel combination will be carried through. Incidentally, a minor merger was effected a few weeks ago by J. Leonard Replogle, the forceful head of the Replogle Steel Company.

* * *

Perhaps the most important mergers of all will be witnessed, in course of time, in the transportation world. The Transportation Act recommends the merging of our 200 and more railway companies into one-tenth of the number. Merger deals of enormous magnitude cannot be worked out over night. But it is certain that one by one small or weak roads will be taken over by larger and stronger systems. The sale of the Lake Erie & Western to the Van Sweringen interests is doubtless a preliminary step to much more important realignments of railway ownerships.

Let our major railway systems again get on a money-making and high credit basis, and we shall unquestionably see lots of merger action, particularly if money continues easy and the appetite of investors for new securities half as keen as it is today.

In harmony with the spirit of the times is the plan of five dominating oil groups in America to join forces in carrying on all prospecting and developing work throughout Mexico. Even the Standard Oil interests are participating in this movement—a change since the days when Rockefeller, Rogers, Flagler, Archbold and other grizzly old warriors reigned supreme.

There have already been one or two oil mergers of some moment, and Wall Street understands that others are under consideration.

Many leading automobile giants declare confidently that the automobile industry is approaching a period of innumerable combinations. It is predicted that five or ten years from now there will be not more but distinctly fewer automobile manufacturing companies in this country. General Motors is in reality a huge combination. Ford, you will recall, recently took over the Lincoln Motor Co. The dynamic head of the Nash Motor Co., C. W. Nash, quite recently became the controlling power in the Lafayette Motor Co., which acquired the Pierce-Arrow Company. Competition is becoming so intense that it will be a survival of the fittest.

* * *

Do not take quite seriously denials that there has been any thought of considering the merging of Armour & Co., Wilson & Co. and Cudahy & Co. Such a deal has been talked of a great deal during the last year. True, nothing definite has yet been arranged, and it is possible that no combination will actually result. On the other hand, it is entirely possible this mammoth merger will be undertaken. Very great economies could be thereby effected.

* * *

Copper mergers on a colossal scale are well within the range of possibility in the not distant future. The acquisition of the largest brass manufacturing company in America by the largest copper producing company in the country is a sign of the times. A Cabinet officer recently remarked to me privately that he believed it would be an excellent thing for the country were the whole copper industry gathered into a few large, responsible, strongly financed corporations.

* * *

The woolen goods industry recently witnessed an important merger. There is talk in Wall Street this week of an impending dry goods merger. The cotton goods industry not so long ago had a big merger. The sugar industry is at present indulging in merger talk. Not very long ago the International Shoe Company took over another prominent company, thus forming the largest shoe manufacturing concern in the world. The chemical industry recently experienced an extremely important merger. The dye industry has not been immune. The tobacco industry may figure conspicuously in merger news by and by. Shipping mergers are sure to come along by and by.

Bank mergers have become almost every-day occurrences, not only here but in Britain, in Germany and other foreign countries—Canada had a big bank merger some time ago.

* * *

Mergers and speculation in merger securities promise to be a feature of the better times we are all looking for this year and next year.

TRADING BRISK IN OIL AND RAIL ISSUES

By W. H. ROSS,
Financial Editor.

Stocks were irregular in New York at the close of the most active season the exchange has known this week. But at the end, as during the whole day, issues to make gains numbered more than those to show losses. Oils were the feature of the last call as well as the opening hour. Most of them were at their highest in late trading.

At the close Standard Oil of California was up 6 at 120¼, after selling at 120¾; Standard Oil of New Jersey finished with 3⅜ gain at 191⅞, its day's best figure; Pacific Oil was up 3⅜ at 65⅞; Cosden 1⅛ at 44⅝; Producers and Refiners 2⅞ at 39¼; Royal Dutch 2 at 66, and Texas Company 2⅛ at 50. Mexican Petroleum was down ⅞ at 132½.

Most rails closed with small gains. Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis and Omaha advanced 5 to 67. Mack Trucks closed at 50⅝, up 4⅛.

While prices were higher at the opening and during the first hour, the market was rather reactionary in the last half of the morning. By noon it was irregular and a lower level was reached in the noon hour. Rails led the afternoon rally, both low and high priced carriers participating.

The activity of oils was revived. They were the forenoon feature. Associated Oil soared 9¼ to 135¼, its top price since 1919. Pacific Oil and Producers and Refiners continued their ascent to new record highs, the former selling at 61¼ and the latter at 38. Doheny oils weakened. Mexican Petroleum dropping 2 to 131⅝ during the morning, while Pan American declined ⅝ to 64¾. Standard Oil of California advanced 3¼ to 117½, its highest since 1920. Standard Oil of New Jersey gained 3¼ to 191½, its high for 1922. Houston climbed 3 to 81 before noon.

Call money opened at 4½ per cent. Foreign exchange rates did not alter much, but had a mixed trend.

Market Buoyant at the Outset

By W. S. COUSINS.
Copyright, 1922, Cosmopolitan News Service.

New York, May 3.—Extreme buoyancy characterized the stock market in early hours today and a new forward movement was inaugurated, particularly in the oils, shipping stocks and specialties. Standard Oils were easily leaders in the first division and stimulated by fantastic reports of melon cutting and extra cash dividends, they were under heavy accumulation.

New high prices were made today by a number of shipping stocks, under the leadership of Marine common and preferred. The company is reported to have impounded with the British government nearly $20,000,000, and it is said that the English are willing to have these funds transferred to this side, if they are not used to increase competition with British-owned steamers.

This has naturally led to the conclusion that the money will be used to liquidate the accumulated dividends, now amounting to 42 per cent.

There were signs of diminished interest in the stock market as the session advanced.

Bond Trading Is Dull In New York

By MONROE ROBERTS.
Copyright, 1922, Cosmopolitan News Service.

New York, May 3.—The bond market was inclined to be dull and irregular today. While some speculative railroad bonds sold slightly higher, a number of low-priced issues were quoted at concessions. As a rule the foreign bonds showed up to better advantage.

New York Railways refunding 4 per cent. made a new high at 44¾, while the certificates were quoted at 44. Interborough Rapid Transit 5s, on the other hand, lost 1⅝, and the Inter-Metropolitan 4½s were 1⅝ lower. New York, West Chester and Boston 4½s advanced ⅝ to 58½; St. Paul refunding 5s were up ½ at 75 and Missouri Pacific general 4s sold at 65⅝. St. Louis and San Francisco adjustment 6s sold at 81⅝, while the income 6s were slightly lower at 69⅝.

The most active foreign bonds were Swiss 8s, which sold at 177⅝. Industrial bonds were steady, without showing much change. Duquesne Light 6s advanced ⅝ to 104; Goodyear Tire 8s of 1941 sold at 116¼; Cerro De Pasco convertible 8s at 116; U. S. Rubber 5s at 89½ and U. S. Steel 5s at 102.

General conditions favor steady improvement in the RAILROADS, thereby making it both interesting and instructive to examine some of the railroad securities which have occupied anything but an attractive position for some time past.

We Suggest

New Haven — Boston & Maine
Chic. & Ea. Ill. — Mo. Kan. & Tex.
St. Louis & So W. — Balt. & Ohio
Kansas City So. — Wheel. & Lk Erie

We believe that good stocks should now be bought on reactions as the trend continues upward and the possibilities are that the following stocks will sell much higher:

Radio Corp. — Barnsdall
Carib Syndicate — Pond Creek
Amer. Woolen — Cities Service
Amer. Can — Skelly Oil

Our weekly market letter "BUYING AND SELLING POINTS" contains information on the above stocks.

Cycles of Prosperity

—the economists say—always proceed by the same general sequence of events.

First, plentiful money—which has ruled for some time.

Second, rising bond prices—already well under way.

Third, rising stock quotations — recently quite in evidence.

Fourth, rising commodity prices — just beginning.

Fifth, gradual return of business prosperity—still in the offing.

By this economic chart (and by all precedents) the bull swing in security prices has a long time to run before it laps over into the general business boom which is anticipated.

Get booked up on the issues which now seem likely to go the farthest.

VENTURA STILL CLIMBING IN BOSTON

After a strong opening the Boston market reflected profit taking and became somewhat irregular, although at the end of the morning gains were in the majority and the undertone was good. Trading was largely confined to the same stocks as has been prominent so far this week. Coppers were heavy as a class. Rails failed to make much of a showing and packing issues gained a little. Interest was largely concentrated upon Ventura, which advanced a point to 29⅞, a new high record price. Point gains were made also by United Fruit, Swift International, Gray & Davis and Hood Rubber. American Sugar preferred advanced 1⅛. Point losses were sustained by Waltham Watch preferred, Eastern Manufacturing, Maine Central and Boston & Maine C.

Boston Elevated and Carson Hill were active but had a narrow and irregular movement.

In the afternoon Ventura was up to 30. Orpheum gained 1⅝, selling at 21¼, and Agricultural Chemical receded a point.

CURB TRADING DULL.

Trading was dull on the Curb and this market had no definite price trend. Morning leaders were Bagdad, Boston Ely, Mutual and Verde Mines. By noon gains included Bagdad 1 cent, at 24 cents; Verde Mines 2 cents, at 32 cents; Texana 1 cent, at 9 cents; City Service Bankers shares 1⅛, at 24½, and Iron Cap 1, at 9. Among declines were Boston Ely 2 cents, at 83 cents; Mutual 4 cents, at 30 cents; Three Metals 2 cents, at 90 cents; Gadsden 1-16, at 1¼, and Radio common 3⅛, at 4⅝. Crystal lost an opening gain of 1-16 and Boston and Montana recovered a loss of 1 cent.

London Market

London, May 3.—The stock market was dull today. Consols opened 58⅛; British war loan 3½s, 94½; 5s, 98⅝, off ⅛; 4½s, 96¼; 4s, 100¼; French 5s, 14½, off ⅛; Russian 5s, 15½; 4½s, 12, off 1; 4s, 8⅛; Rio Tinto, 26¼, up ⅛.

Grand Trunk 1⅛. De Beers 11⅝. Rand Mines 2⅛. Money 1⅝ per cent. Discount rates—Short bills and three months bills, 2⅝ to 2 7-16 per cent.

$8,106,887 IN NEW BUILDING OPERATIONS

Boston's building boom has started. This was announced by Mayor Curley today in a statement which showed that applications for new buildings and alterations for the month of April totalled $8,106,887 as against $1,089,734 for the same month last year.

Applications for new structures and alterations in the city for the entire month amount to 766 with 266 of these for entirely new operations and the remainder for alterations. For the same month last year the total construction was 707 and 583 alterations and but 124 new buildings of all classes.

The valuation of new construction for which application was made during the past month was $7,308,780 and alterations of $798,107. Last year for the same month the value of new construction was but $320,001 and alterations $769,753, showing that Boston is decidedly active in a building way this year.

In the past month applications for new apartment and tenement houses to the number of fourteen were made with an estimated cost of $820,000.

"Seeing's Believing"
Metro—Featuring Viola Dana
Diana .... Viola Dana
Bruce Terrington . A. Forrest
Aunt Sue .... Gertrude Astor
Jimmy Harrison P. McCullough
Jack Webster .. Dick Rosson
Henry Scribbens...E. Connelly
Mr. Reed ...... Colin Kinney
Mrs. Reed .... Grace Morse
Story by Rex Taylor. Scenario by Edith Kennedy. Directed by D. H. Thompson.

A WILFUL FLAPPER.

The plot revolves about circumstantial evidence. Miss Dana as Diana Webster, a wilful young flapper with plenty of money to afford wilfulness, is forced by a storm to spend the night in a country hotel with Jimmy Harrison, the assistant district attorney, who is engaged to her aunt. In order to pacify the hotel keeper and his wife, they say they are married, and then Jimmy sneaks out and spends the night in the hall.

A guest in the hotel misinterprets the situation. When he later meets Diana at her home, he persists in misunderstanding, even though he falls in love with her. Piqued at his stubbornness, she refuses to explain matters. Instead, she and her aunt arrange to prove to him that "seeing is not always believing." They arrange a badger game on him, but their actors double-cross them and work a blackmailing scheme on Diana—a scheme from which the dubious young hero rescues her.

AT HER BEST.

Miss Dana has the ability to make the most of every sort of situation. In scenes in which action follows action pell-mell, she excels. "Seeing's Believing" gives her many such opportunities. Gertrude Astor as the aunt is good, while Grace Morse does uncommonly well as one of the blackmailers.

"Where Is My Wandering Boy"
Featuring Cullen Landis.
Garrett Beecher..Cullen Landis
Lorna........Patsy Ruth Miller

THE COMPANION picture on the bill is taken from the poem, "Where Is My Wandering Boy Tonight." It is quite frankly melodrama and ends with a moral—in the form of a subtitle saying that if the picture has persuaded anyone in the audience to look up his mother back in the home town—then the producers are satisfied.

HITS PRIMROSE PATH.

Garrett Beecher, the wandering boy, leaves Pleasant Valley in quest of a musical comedy favorite he had met in the country. He wanders up and down the Primrose Path—first up and then down—until he goes back home, robs the general store and then goes back to buy up Broadway. He repents—after he's spent the money—and becomes a stoker in order to pay it back.

Meanwhile his old mother and Lorna wait for him back in Pleasant Valley. He is railroaded to prison for ten years and there saves the warden's life and is pardoned by the Governor. He goes home and reaches Pleasant Valley in a snowstorm on Christmas Eve. It is Lillian Gish played by Cullen Landis.

CONTEST WAXES HOT.

THE MOVIE king and queen are having a fight of it winning their respective crowns, for the actresses and society debutantes are parolling the avenue and Broadway daily in their quest for votes. The balloting to date is as follows:

Feminine Stars
Constance Binney	10,000
Madge Kennedy	5,500
Billie Dove	2,986
Mary Carr	1,881
Shirley Mason	1,924
Mary Pickford	1,875
Marion Davies	1,165
Constance Talmadge	1,160
Alice Terry	1,100
Male Stars
Will Rogers	2,500
Tom Mix	1,735
William Farnum	1,650
Buck Jones	1,500
Dustin Farnum	1,450
John Gilbert	1,016
Charles Chaplin	1,004
Jackie Coogan	500
Wyndham Standing	250
Richard Barthelmess	200

It seems strange that Mary Pickford and Constance Talmadge should appear so far from the top and that Norma Talmadge is not represented at all. Billie Dove has appeared in but four or five pictures, yet she is forging ahead, while Madge Kennedy has not even been seen on the screen for several years. Fans move in mysterious ways their voting to perform! However, there are several more days of balloting and time will doubtless bring changes in the positions.

HEARINGS

THE COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS
In Department of Public Utilities
Boston, May 1, 1922.

On the petition of the Boston Consolidated Gas Company for the approval of a contract with the New England Fuel and Transportation Company for the purchase of gas, the Commission of the Department of Public Utilities will give a public hearing to all parties interested at its hearing-room, 166 State House, Boston, on Wednesday, the seventeenth day of May current at ten thirty o'clock in the forenoon.

And the petitioner is required to give notice of said hearing by serving a copy hereof upon the respective mayors of Boston, Chelsea, Newton and Waltham, and upon the respective chairmen of the selectmen of Brookline, Milton, Watertown, Wellesley and Weston ten days at least prior to the date of said hearing, and by publishing a copy hereof in the Boston American, Boston Post, Boston Globe, Boston Herald, Boston Record, Boston Transcript, Boston Traveler, Christian Science Monitor, East Boston Free Press, East Boston Argus Advocate, Catholic Citizen (Chelsea), Chelsea Record, Chelsea Gazette, Newton Circuit, Newton Graphic, Newton Journal, Newton Town Crier, Waltham Free-Press-Tribune, Waltham News, Watertown Tribune-Enterprise and Wellesley Townsman, in each of said papers once each week for two successive weeks prior to the date of said hearing, and to make return of service and publication at the time of hearing.

By order of the Commission.
ANDREW A. HIGHLANDS,
Secretary.

PROPOSALS

PROPOSALS FOR PAPER—The Secretary of the Commonwealth invites proposals to supply paper for State printing for six months, beginning June 1, 1922. Proposals may be made on book paper only if so desired. Forms of proposal and all information relative to quantities and qualities required may be obtained at Room 256, State House. Proposals must be sealed, addressed to the Secretary of the Commonwealth, and marked "Proposals for Supplying Paper." They will be received until 5 p. m., Friday, May 19, 1922. Samples of all paper to be furnished must accompany each proposal. The right is reserved to reject any and all proposals. FREDERICK W. COOK, Secretary of the Commonwealth.

Control Act and 5-Cent Fare

Revocation Would Not Reduce Fares; Let Us Not Confuse the Issues

We see no reason why the Legislature should not ask the Attorney General the question concerning the Elevated Control Act which Mayor Curley and Mr. Sherman L. Whipple requests them to ask. If the Elevated Control Act was passed as a result of corruption, as they declare, it ought to be investigated, brought to light and punished.

But let us not confuse the issues. This investigation of the alleged corruption which is alleged to have caused the passage of the Boston Elevated Control Act has nothing whatever to do with getting a five-cent fare.

If the gentlemen who want this Control Act revoked by the Legislature can overcome the decisions of our Courts and get the Legislature to confess that it has been corrupted, ALL IT WILL SUCCEED IN DOING IS PASSING THIS PROPERTY. WHICH THE PEOPLE TOOK WHEN IT WAS RUN DOWN, BANKRUPT AND ALL BUT JUNK, AND REBUILT AND MADE CAPABLE OF ECONOMICAL OPERATION, TO ITS OLD OWNERS WITHOUT LIMITATION CONCERNING THE AMOUNT THEY CAN CHARGE FOR CARFARE UP TO THE POINT WHERE THEY EARN WHAT THE COURTS ALLOW AS A REASONABLE DIVIDEND ON THEIR INVESTMENT, WITH THE PRESENT VALUE OF MONEY THAT IS PROBABLY 8 PER CENT. Under the public control, they are today only getting 5½ per cent. as rental.

The people should keep it constantly in mind that the five-cent fare contract between the State and the Boston Elevated Railway Company expires in July, and if the Public Control Act were revoked its only effect would be to turn back to old private management a road which will be run for private profit without the five-cent fare contract.

We should like to see some practical suggestion of a way to get the five-cent fare. Let us have all the investigation that anybody wants of the method by which this Public Control Act was passed. BUT LET IT BE UNDERSTOOD THAT THIS IS IN THE INTEREST OF POLITICAL MORALITY AND NOT IN THE INTEREST OF A RETURN OF THE FIVE-CENT FARE OR OF THE REDUCTION OF THE FARE. More than that, let it be remembered that if in the remote contingency that the Act is revoked, the result will not only fail to bring a five-cent fare but will probably prevent the gradual reduction of the fares which the present public management is bringing about. It has already extended the zone of the five-cent fare until more than 20 per cent. of the people who ride on the road are riding for five cents today.

The idea that the Public Control Act caused a ten-cent fare is absurd. One would think to hear this talk about the Public Control Act being the cause of the ten-cent fare that Boston is the only city in the country that doesn't have a five-cent fare. As a matter of fact, there is no large city in the country that has a five-cent fare and a solvent railway except San Francisco, where they have had for years public ownership and operation of their street railway. Detroit has a five–cent fare with a transfer of a cent, and Detroit, we are informed, owns and operates its own street railway. In New York, on an alleged five-cent fare, part of the system is now in the hands of a receiver and none of it is paying its subway rentals, all the interest on its bonded indebtedness or keeping up its depreciation. If Boston were to be relieved of all these burdens, it could reduce its fare to seven cents and keep out of the hands of a receiver.

But there is a way to get a five-cent fare. Mr. MacFarland, counsel for the Boston American, pointed it out before the City Council Monday and Mayor Curley indicated the general direction some years ago. If he follows his own suggestion made then to a Legislative Committee, he will start on the road toward a five-cent fare.

Irish Labor on Right Side

Intervenes for Law and Order and Denounces Irregularities Which Are Upsetting Business

Irish organized labor has taken a hand in the civil disturbances which have been going on, apparently with increasing furor. It has counseled moderation and warned the provisional government to be a government and put down the disturbances or to let some other authority do it.

Whether the blame is on the provisional government, advocating the compromise between itself and England, or whether the blame is elsewhere, of course at this distance we cannot know, nor can we know with certainty whether organized labor is right in criticizing the Dail Eireann for impotence in the present situation. We call attention to the intervention of organized labor, because it has intervened on the side of law and order and denounces those irregularities which are upsetting the course of business and turning the parts of Ireland affected into a bedlam.

It is interesting to recall that this is precisely the part which organized labor played in Germany, not long ago, when the reactionary monarchists on one side and the more irresponsible of the radicals on the other insisted upon flying at each other's throats and trying to settle a political question by violence and civil war. Organized labor at that critical moment rose in a body, separated the combatants, reestablished order and helped the government put down the revolution of generals and monarchists.

Well organized labor intelligently led, the Boston American has always asserted, was a great power for orderly progress and conservatism in the real and worthy sense of the word.

In America, organized labor is in its lowest state. It would be quite incapable today of rendering the service to the State which the German or the English or the Irish workingmen could render to their State. But it will come back under better leadership.

Textile Strike Probe

Senator Walsh Considers That Any Investigation by Present Congress Would Be Futile

Senator Walsh, in his reply to Mayor Curley's suggestion that a congressional investigation be held on the New England textile strike, says his experience with investigations by the present Congress where the rights of American workmen are concerned has been very sad. He declares that this Congress is not sympathetic with the American workmen and that an investigation only opens an opportunity for the enemies of labor to profit by the findings of an investigating committee which would be packed in advance against the workingman.

An investigation of the report of the congressional committee which sat on the steel strike and on the coal strike certainly confirms Senator Walsh's view of the futility of any investigation of our great New England textile strike, if justice is what is desired and not the making of propaganda against our wage-earners.

Railroad Scheme

Commissioner Cole Reveals Meaning of His Advocacy of Special Tax on Auto Trucks

In his scheme to put a special tax on motor trucks, John N. Cole, Massachusetts Highway Commissioner, revealed the "nigger in the wood pile" when addressing the directors of the Boston Chamber of Commerce the other day. He said:

> The transportation of the future may be a co-ordination of RAILROAD and motor systems, all under railroad management, the trucks taking the short hauls and the railroads the long hauls, both playing into each other's capacities so as to give New England a unified system of transportation, which the district needs more than any other section of the country. An advantage of this would be the fact that the railroads at present are the only transportation form which is really held responsible for the freight submitted to it, and should, therefore, be entrusted with the other forms of transportation.

We thought so. We have from the beginning believed that Mr. Cole's advocacy of a special tax upon automobile trucks was a railroad scheme.

The railroads neglected and threw away the short-haul traffic on the plea that it was unprofitable. The independent automobile trucks came along and took it up, developed it, found it profitable, and those who have freight to deliver found the service of these automobile trucks satisfactory.

Now the railroads are typical dogs in the manger. They want back that business which they have lost, and they have just two ways of getting it back. One is by giving better service than the automobile trucks, and the other is by entering into a private conspiracy with the government to tax the automobile trucks out of existence. Which way would they naturally take? Does anyone who knows railway history hesitate to answer?

We have heard a lot about the irresponsibility of automobile trucks for freight. That is the business of those who ship the freight. They are business men, and they know their business. They do not need to be patronized or wet-nursed by Mr. Cole or by the railroads. If the service of the automobile trucks satisfies them, if they consider it better service than the railroads can give them, it is not for either Mr. Cole or the railroads to tell them that it is unsatisfactory service.

We have heard also the benefits of consolidation to the community. The Boston & Maine used to tell that to the communities each time it grabbed a little road. The New Haven told that to New England when it grabbed the Boston & Maine. They told us the same story when the railroads took the competing ship lines, and the results have been just as uniform as the stories.

There never has been any variance in the results. It has always meant that the business competing with the railroads was swallowed up and the fares and rates were raised to meet the high fares and rates of the railroads, and the service was diminished so that it should not exceed the service on the railroads. The public never received any benefit, and lost all the advantages of competition.

Now you who read this may not own an automobile truck, you may not have any stock in an automobile company. But you have a very great interest in this question just the same, for much of what you buy is brought to you over the road by automobile trucks, and unless you watch out, gentlemen like Mr. John N. Cole will put the automobile trucks out of business on one specious plea or another, and the railroads as usual will gobble up and destroy the benefits of the advances in the art of transportation.

We shall get no benefit from the development of the automobile truck as a freight carrier, just as we received no benefit from the increase in the carrying power or from the engine which hauls today nearly five times what the engine hauled thirty years ago; just as we received no benefit from the air brakes which enabled the railroads to dispense with more than half the brakemen on their freight trains; just as we receive no benefit from the automatic signals which reduced the cost of directing the trains, and all the numerous devices which have reduced the cost of transportation. It has all gone to the Wall Street speculators.

In the meantime, instead of fares going down with this advance, fares and freight rates have never been so high before. They have more than doubled in ten years.

Too Many Bachelors

Too Few Babies

Copyright, 1922, Star Company

There are 13,000,000 grown-up unmarried men in the United States. That is bad, since we need population, especially now that foolish law prevents immigration. There are eight and a half million women in the United States working for a living. Many of them do not marry because it would mean giving up their jobs. And that is extremely bad. No job is as good as one small baby laboriously learning to say, "Ma-ma."

That great number of bachelors—13,000,000—means that women are no longer organized as the pessimist Schopenhauer alleged them to be. He said that all GOOD women were very hard on any UNFORTUNATE woman, because good women were in league to compel every man to marry and support some one woman.

A woman less particular in her morals broke the agreement, which was bad for the combinatioin. However that may be, too many bachelors and too many unmarried women means something wrong.

Boston has 878.67 miles of water supply and distributing mains, with 9,779 fire hydrants, reported last year.

IF today is the anniversary of your birth, you should have no difficulty in making and holding friends. You are naturally gifted with a philanthropic love of humanity, and you have furthermore the type of mentality to find interest in a life devoted to the highest good of mankind.

Whatever success you achieve in a material line, and you have a very good business head, will never satisfy the deepest desires of your nature.

Women of this date are more temperamental than the men and have an abnormal sense of the romantic both in material and in spiritual affairs. They are often as rhapsodic in their love affairs as the men are circumspect and reserved, and they are always fascinated with their own powers of fascination.

Try to do all that you can today, for decisions made this day will bring a lasting benefit.

Seen and Heard

By Lambert and Daily

FRED J. KNEELAND superintendent of public buildings, was a painter years ago. What he learned then about climbing came in handy during the flag-raising in front of City Hall during the centennial exercises. A flag got caught, but "Fred," nimbly as ever, "shinnied" up the pole and soon had "Old Glory" fluttering to the breeze.

FORMER CITY COUNCILLOR WALTER L. COLLINS, it is said, is seriously considering the announcement of his candidacy for the office of district attorney.

WENDELL P. THORE is exercised by REPRESENTATIVE GRAVES' speech that we need to be protected against a butcher, baker or candlestick maker being elected to the office of district attorney. Thore points out that Jesus of Nazareth was a carpenter, Franklin was a tallow-dipper, and Lincoln, the rail-splitter, said his life might be best summarized by the line in Gray's Elegy, "The short and simple annals of the poor."

JOHN H. LEE, old-time Democratic leader, was a visitor at the Mayor's office recently. Mr. Lee has just passed seventy-six, and says that he feels just as young as he ever did.

GEORGE CURRAN after an absence of two years, has entered the arena again. He will be a candidate for the Governor's Council. EDWIN T. McKNIGHT'S loss of prestige in both banking and politics began the day he blocked Curran's attempt to invite PRESIDENT DE VALERA to address the Senate.

GEORGE W. COLEMAN, former president of the City Council, said that MAYOR CURLEY was wandering through the political wilderness for four years and had come back to his own again. From the number of visitors that "hizzoner" has each day, SECRETARIES DAN GILLEN and MICHAEL WARD are very much under the impression that he must have met quite a few while wandering.

GOVERNOR COX, in his speech to the Worcester veterans, emphasized the importance of April in the annals of State history. April, '75, saw the farmers battle England at Concord and Lexington; April, '61, saw Bay State troops fight against slavery in the Baltimore assault, and in April, '18, a Massachusetts regiment, the 104th, was decorated at Apremont.

TIP FOR TENANTS—The Rent and Housing Committee may be found now in the Old Aldermanic Chamber at City Hall. HERBERT ELLIS, chief adjuster, will be glad to take care of all complaints.

ARTHUR RUSSELL, a Worcester youngster, will receive from the State this week a check for $39, one of the smallest claims ever paid by the Commonwealth. Arthur will buy a new bicycle, to replace the one demolished by an auto from the Worcester State Hospital.

EX LIBRIS

By Zoe B. Faber

IN "The Pleasures of Ignorance," by Robert Lynd, we are reminded of the fun we used to have when the fiddler on the vaudeville stage would appear, and with fine scorn of the infinitude of compositions that might be arrayed against him, would demand that the audience call out "pieces" and in the twinkling of an eye there would be your favorite tune!

Robert Lynd might almost be daring us to play the same difficult game with him in the absolutely foolish variety of subjects that he has turned out for our amusement. They range all the way from the sources of horse-racing tips to the morals of beans—and we suggest that that is considerable distance to be amusing!

This English critic, who has done other delightful things such as "The Passion of Labour," "The Art of Letters" and "Old Masters," has a touch which is of unfailing joy. He is not funny—but there is throughout his writings a subtle humor which is inimitable.

If you like and appreciate little bits of this and that, making a whole that is negligible (according to some, but delightful withal) then you will enjoy "The Pleasures of Ignorance" greatly.

It's a wee book in size but you will get more pleasure out of it than at first glance seems likely. Charles Scribner's Sons are the publishers.

Auction Bridge Bidding

By S. S. Carvalho

ARTICLE XX.

No Trump Bid

WHEN the dealer bids No Trump, and the second player doubles, it says to his partner, "I also have a good No Trump hand, and might go two No Trumps. I would rather wait, however, and leave the declaration to you. If you have a good average hand bid two No Trumps, or pass for a set. If you have a good suit bid declare it. If you have a weak hand, bid two in the longest suit you have."

For the one No Trump double your hand should be a trick stronger than the conventional initial one No Trump declaration.

A Business Double is seldom made when the declaration is less than three, as it takes six tricks to set the two contract.

The doubler should have three sure tricks and possibilities in his own hand for doubling a three declaration; two tricks and possibilities in doubling a declaration of four, and one trick and possibilities in doubling a declaration of five or over. He depends on his partner for the necessary additional tricks.

There are other doubles, among them the Confusing Double and the Bluff Double.

The Confusing Double is made to confuse the Declarer as to the position of adverse high cards.

The Bluff Double is made against a declaration which you cannot defeat, the purpose being, to bring the adversaries into a dclaration they had previously made, and which you believe you can defeat.

Before doubling a Minor suit declaration a player should consider that if the Declarer makes his contract he is likely to [illegible] game in addition to getting the other penalties. It is this fact that makes the Minor suits so great a factor in strategic playing.

When, with a strong hand, the question arises as to whether you should try for a rubber game or double your adversary's call, go for the rubber game unless you feel sure you will make more than 300 points through doubling

CRUEL FOOLING

A Connecticut woman played an April fool trick on her husband by telling him she was going to sue for divorce, when she had no intention of doing it. Some women don't know the difference between a joke and a disappointment.
